Expect Record 'Eleventh Hour' Registration In City Today

Registration Is Under Way On Final Day

Steady Increase Of Voters At Precincts In City Noted Today

LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER THIS FALL

Expect 6000 At Least To Be Added To Voting Lists During Day

At 8 o'clock this morning the parade of voters to the registration polls started in New Castle. Alarmed by the disgraceful showing in the first two days of registration, voters, political leaders and public spirited citizens have been urging a heavy registration today and while at noon the total was not a record it was an indication of a heavy registration during the day and evening.

From a scattered check of various precincts in the second, third and fourth wards, the average at 11 o'clock seemed to be about 30 to a precinct, already registered. This figure in itself is not heavy but it is good for the early hours of the day. On this basis the average at the supper time recess will probably be around 150. The precincts in the south side of the city show a smaller average probably because they had registered in strength on the first two.

Should Total 6000.
In order to get anything like a normal registration for the November election there must be at least 6000 registered today. To get a representative registration there should be not less than 10,000 registered, but this is hardly likely. An apathetic attitude has marked the registration thus far and it seems hardly likely that there will be anything more than an ordinary registration. The polls were open from 8 until 12 noon. They were closed from noon until 1 when they are open again until 5. From 5 until 7 they are closed and at 7 they open again to remain open until 10 o'clock tonight. This is the last chance. Miss Crain Will Not Resign Teaching Job

ENDICOTT, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Complete confidence in her integrity, as expressed by school officials, teachers and the public in general, appeared likely today to sustain Margaret Crain, teacher of music in the Endicott schools, in her efforts to carry on and protect her from dismissal from her post.

Miss Crain was absent from Endicott today but close friends declared she had no intention of resigning. She has been a supervisor of music in the Endicott school system for more than a year and has established a record for ability and efficiency officials say. They take the position that her part in the Edwards murder case is that of an innocent victim of circumstances and are not inclined to place a sinister interpretation upon Edward's letters to her, excerpts of which have been published locally.

Miss Crain's mother has come to Endicott and is her constant defender and protector.

School officials declared they would ignore demands for her removal. Public sympathy is almost solidly with Miss Crain.

Chest Workers Will Continue Drive For $72,000

Reports Last Night Put Campaign Fund Total Up To About $50,000

WORKERS VOLUNTEER TO STICK TO JOB

Hundred And Eighty At Enthusiastic Meeting On Friday Night

Rallying last night for the fourth and final report meeting of its four-day drive for $72,000, a loyal and determined army of Community Chest workers swelled its ranks to a momentary total of 973.89 and then, at a moment or so after leaders announced the figure, heard its hard-working divisions pledge themselves to a post-campaign solicitation for the remaining amount needed, $22,026.11.

The dinner took place at The Castleton.

What might be nicknamed the "mopping crew," and it will be men and women, will plunge into its harder job next Wednesday afternoon in the hopes that by the close of that week the full 1934-35 quota will be subscribed.

To Continue Work
The energetic ladies working on teams in the division headed by Mrs. Robert A. Eckles and the Blue and White armies, the divisions which directed the downtown solicitation, willingly enlisted their aid for next week.

As General Chairman W. Walter Brahm and other campaign leaders were concluding speeches last night, Col. L. B. Round, head of both the Blue and White armies, arose and called out:

"What we need tonight is volunteers, we need a mopping crew! Do I hear any volunteers?"

As Round shouted the last word there came from across the ballroom audience this reply from the Blue army leader, Carl E. Paisley:

"We're with you 100 percent!"

And the White army leader, Emanuel Shenkan who had tried to beat Paisley to his feet, jumped up next to say:

"And we're with you to a man!"

For a moment the banquet hall was tense and then the audience of 180 or more, proud of the spirit which the armies displayed, broke into loud applause.

Mrs. Robert A. Eckles arose immediately after the noise subsided to let the Chest force know "that you can count on the ladies to do all they can!"

A minute or so was all the time it took but the challenging call of the Chest high command got the loyal response of divisions that believe in obedient service. They know that working with them next week will be their high command, men to whom community service is not alone day-after-day routine but a deeply-cherished joy as well. And working together the generals and the buck privates, team workers (Continued On Page Two)

WORKERS VOLUNTEER TO STICK TO JOB

Hundred And Eighty At Enthusiastic Meeting On Friday Night

Rallying last night for the fourth and final report meeting of its four-day drive for $72,000, a loyal and determined army of Community Chest workers swelled its campaign total to $49,973.89 and then, only a moment or so after leaders announced the figure, heard its hard-working divisions pledge themselves to a post-campaign solicitation for the remaining amount needed, $22,026.11.

The dinner took place at The Castleton.

"What we need tonight is volunteers, we need a mopping crew! Do I hear any volunteers?"

As Round shouted the last word there came from across the ballroom audience this reply from the Blue army leader, Carl E. Paisley:

"We're with you 100 percent!"

"And we're with you to a man!"

For a moment the banquet hall was tense and then the audience of 150 or more, proud of the spirit which the armies displayed, broke into loud applause.

Mrs. Robert A. Eckles arose immediately after the noise subsided to let the Chest force know "that you can count on the ladies to do all they can!"

A minute or so was all the time it took but the challenging call of the Chest high command got the loyal response of divisions that believe in obedient service. They know that working with them next week will be their high command, men to whom community service is not alone day-after-day routine but a deeply cherished joy as well. Expect Record 'Eleventh Hour' Registration In City Today

Steady Increase Of Voters At Precincts In City Noted Today

LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER THIS FALL

Expect 6000 At Least To Be Added To Voting Lists During Day

At 8 o'clock this morning the parade of voters to the registration polls started in New Castle. Alarmed by the disgraceful showing in the first two days of registration voters, political leaders and public spirited citizens have been urging a heavy registration today and while at noon the total was not a record it was an indication of a heavy registration during the day and evening.

From a scattered check of various precincts in the second, third and fourth wards, the average at 11 o'clock seemed to be about 30 to a precinct, already registered. This figure in itself is not heavy but it is good for the early hours of the day. On this basis the average at the supper time recess will probably be around 150. The precincts in the south side of the city show a smaller average probably because they had registered in strength on the first two.

Should Total 6000.

In order to get anything like a normal registration for the November election there must be at least 6000 registered today. To get a representative registration there should be not less than 10,000 registered, but this is hardly likely. An apathetic attitude has marked the registration thus far and it seems hardly likely that there will be anything more than an ordinary registration. The polls were open today from 8 until 12 noon. They were closed from noon until 1 when they are open again until 6. From 6 until 7 they are closed and at 7 they open again to remain open until 10 o'clock tonight. This is the last chance.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New is glad to extend a welcome to the Johnstown host here today, in behalf of the entire city. It is the hope that today's event may be the start of many such inter-city programs.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. VanEman of Castlewood report that they picked black raspberries from the bushes in their garden one day last week. They picked enough to fill several dessert dishes. They would like to know if there is anyone else who has picked raspberries the last week in September.

The violets that bloom in the spring have nothing on the violets that bloom in the fall. One of Pa New's boys found one shrinking little blossom peeping up from the grass in his front yard this morning.

Do not forget that 10 o'clock tonight is the deadline on your chance to register for the November election, in New Castle. Registrars are at the polling places today.

It is certainly to be hoped that resumption of work projects in this city will include completion of the wall along the sidewalk on the Croton hill.

A police radio cruiser which carried a Michigan license attracted attention.

Special Train Reaches City At 12:30—About 300 In Delegation

LARGE SCHOOL BAND LEADS ROOTERS HERE

Amid martial music played by the senior high school band and the lusty cheers of townspeople, Johnstown's trainload of football rooters was welcomed as it pulled into the west side depot of the Pennsylvania railroad at the scheduled hour of 12:30 o'clock this afternoon.

On the seven-car train came a crowd of 275 Johnstown high school students, citizens, the Johnstown gridders and 85-piece band to participate in what New Castle is making one of its most colorful football days in its long gridiron history.

At Taggart stadium at 3 this afternoon the Johnstown gridders will march out onto the field to do battle with the New Castle boys.

Greet Visitors.

At the Pennsy station here as the special train arrived were Mayor Charles E. Mayne, Ralph W. Bolinger, general chairman for the day's celebration; Principal F. L. Orth of senior high, local service club delegations and enthusiastic citizens on hand to help make the visitors' arrival more impressive.

There was no formal ceremony, no handshaking—but there were cheers in mighty volume.

The Johnstown band, directed by P. I. Aike, detrained first and then the students and Johnstown citizens unloaded.

All the while New Castle's 73-piece band, led by Prof. J. F. Replegle, was playing welcome airs.

Within a few minutes after the train pulled in, the crowd was mingling in front of the depot and preparing itself for the march over town.

Team Goes To Stadium.

Johnstown's squad of players, riding on one of the rear coaches, was kept on the train until the crowd left the depot. Two buses were brought there to convey them directly to the stadium.

The Johnstown band leading, the New Castle band and the Johnstown rooters hastily formed a parade lineup and began a march.

Her husband, Otha M. Furlong, told Coroner Orville Potter that he had come home about 2 o'clock and had gone upstairs. He came down a few minutes later, and his wife cried "goodbye" to him and started to drink the contents of a bottle. Mr. Furlong rushed to her side and knocked the bottle from her hands, but not before she had swallowed most of its contents, which proved to be poison.

A doctor was summoned, who ordered her removed to the New Castle hospital, where she died an hour after being admitted.

Furlong had formerly been employed at the Blair Strip Steel plant, but had not been employed for some time.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Hard on the heels of the secret grilling of a Boston forger of postal money orders, New Jersey officials today cleared the way for the indictment of a woman in the abduction-slaying of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

When the Hunterdon county grand jury meets at Flemington Monday to hand up a true bill charging Bruno Richard Hauptmann with first degree murder, it will also be urged to return a new indictment naming "Jane Doe" as a confederate in the case.

It was indicated that the woman would be named only as a participant in the kidnaping, although the grand jury will be empowered to charge her with first degree murder.

Officials refused to say whether this action was the result of the questioning in Boston of James E. Russell, a convicted forger awaiting sentence in the East Cambridge jail. It was not until after Russell was quizzed. However, that a decision apparently was reached to take official cognizance of a woman among the kidnapers.

REBELS CONTROL THREE SPANISH TOWNS

Government Seeks Control

Several Scores Dead; 1500 Under Arrest As Result Of Revolt

ALL OF SPAIN IS PARALYZED

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 6.—Mustering all the armed forces at its command, the two day old Lerroux government struggled today to gain control of the socialist inspired revolutionary general strike which held all Spain paralyzed in its bloody grip.

Rebel forces were in control of at least three towns as the day dawned. Several scores lay dead, hundreds were wounded and more than 1,500 were under arrest.

Threat of Secession

Perhaps the most serious problem confronting the central government was the threat of secession of Catalonia, Spain's autonomous eastern provinces which for generations have been at odds with Madrid rule.

An official casualty list published by the government this morning placed the dead at 34. But at least double this number were believed to have been killed. Communists for instance, were known to be hiding their dead in the fear that government forces would ferret out the relatives if the bodies were found in the streets.

Unofficial estimates, based upon speculation, placed the dead as high as 100. Crippled communications lines and the faking and minding of rebel casualty lists made an accurate check impossible.

Large Town Seized

Mieres, having a population of 45,000 was the largest town seized by the rebels. A librarian communism was established by peasants who occupied the city last night, seizing the city hall and reportedly killing a few civil guards in their coup.

Communists, socialist and syndicalist leaders combined forces to seize the city of Sabadell of 40,000 population, and lying just a few miles north of Barcelona, center of the Catalonian unrest.

Uncastrillo, a town of 5,000 population near Saragossa, was the third municipality known to be in the hands of the rebels as dawn broke, having been seized in a bitter fracas in which several were killed.

Madrid itself awoke to find the strike continuing probably even more effectively than yesterday, although the night was peaceful. All public services were manned mainly by military forces who also were responsible for the maintenance of a steady food supply for capital residents.

The minister of the interior issued an optimistic statement today declaring the strike was at a turning point for the better.

Braham Presides
General Chairman W. Walter Braham presided over the final dinner-meeting last night, introducing, at different times groups and divisions and individuals whose unstinted service has helped to propel this year's campaign.

He took President James K. Love of the Chest board of directors to call for personal praise for the drive's leader, Mr. Braham, and as a demonstration of his appreciation for his able leadership and valued service, the entire army of workers arose.

The campaign's executive director, James A. Blyth, spoke briefly. He explained the details of next week's extra campaigning.

Captains of various teams, Mr. Blyth announced last night, will be called to Community Chest headquarters in the Green building (fourth floor) next Wednesday at 5 o'clock to receive their share of the 600 cards which will carry the names of prospects as yet not solicited. The captains will distribute them to the team members for solicitation.

EDWARDS GIVEN DEATH PENALTY IN GIRL SLAYING

counsel asked him sympathetically, "Very well, thank you," the defendant answered.

He said it in the same tone he might have used in passing the time of day.

None of the parents of Edwards or the dead girl were in the courtroom when the verdict was brought back.

All of them had taken the witness stand during the trial—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Edwards seeking to save their son from execution and Mr. and Mrs. George McKechie seeking vengeance for the betrayal and bludgeoning of Freda.

Proper Verdict
District Attorney Thomas M. Lewis commenting on the verdict said: "It is a proper verdict. Justice has prevailed."

Love and death were discussed in the jury room before the twelve men wrote their message of doom and sealed it in an envelope. After the court clerk, Charles Henderson, had read it, the foreman recorded it verbally and each of the other jurors was polled.

It was on July 30, that the black-haired defendant took Freda on her last auto ride. They had been childhood sweethearts in the little mining town of Edwardsville. Bobby was a mine surveyor, a Sunday school worker, the Beau Brummel of his class and enjoyed a reputation for having a way with the ladies.

Freda was a telephone operator. The houses of the McKechie family and the Edwards family adjoined each other. The elder Edwards, paymaster in the Kingston Coal company was a life long friend of Freda's father, employed as a mine boss in the same company.

The McKechies and the Edwards even went to the same church and the wives talked over their back yards to each other.

Meets Another Girl
When Bobby went away to college at Mansfield, Pa., he met a young music student, Margaret Crain. His romance with Freda began to dwindle away and Margaret visited his home in vacation time.

Freda told Bobby a few days before her death that she was to become a mother. Bobby outwardly objected but inwardly he was glad. He promised to marry Margaret and promised to "take care" of the child.

On the ill-fated July 30 Bobby took Freda for a midnight swim in Harvey's Lake. Paralleling events in the famous "American Tragedy" her body was found the next day.

There was a terrible gash in the back of her head. Her clothes were found under a tree on the shore. Bobby was arrested. He told five different stories, signing the last two versions of the tragedy in the form of statements.

Here were the stories:
1.—Freda knocked her head against a dock.
2.—Freda disappeared in the water.
3.—He accidentally hit her jaw while swimming and later she drowned while swimming.

4.—On which he based his defense—Freda was stepping into a row boat from the dock when she fainted. He could not revive her. As father of her unborn baby, Bobby feared he would be blamed for her death. So he took his father's black jacket from the car on the beach and ordered, striking her on the head in order to make her death look like an accident.

5.—(On which the state based its case)—Freda stood in the way of his marriage to Margaret Crain, "the other girl." He had played with the idea of getting rid of Freda "in the night of their last auto ride, he decided 'now was the time to do it.'"

On the way home that night Bobby bought his mother two chocolate bars. Both his parents, on the witness stand, admitted he was unable to sleep that night.

The motive for the slaying of Freda was established by the prosecution in the five day trial through the introduction of his fervid erotic love letters to Margaret Crain. Many of them were unprintable. Those that were contained outbursts of adolescent passion and declarations of eternal love for "Momet," the term of endearment with which he addressed Margaret. Bobby signed himself "Buddy." Frequently he referred to Margaret as his wife and to himself as her husband.

The 172 "purple" letters written by Bobby were brought into the jury room almost equal number, written by Margaret in reply, also were read by the jurors. These were not permitted to be made public by Judge William Valentine.

Bobby, on the witness stand appeared more anxious to explain his philosophy of love than to testify to save him from the electric chair.

He had a friendly love for Freda but a marriage love for Margaret. Yes, he had made love to many girls. Bobby went back to his cell in the county jail.

William Fahy, one of the jurors after concluding his duty, hurried to the bedside of his mother, who was dying.

REGISTRATION IS UNDER WAY ON FINAL DAY

When the polls close tonight the lists are closed save for those voters who were out of the city or were sick on all three days of the registration. These voters can get on the books at the county commissioners' office.

No Tax Receipt
No tax receipt is needed to register. All that is necessary is for the voter to present himself at the registration polls and answer a few questions as to residence, party affiliation, age and length of time in the district.

There is still time to keep out of the "Forgetting Voter" class. The time expires at 10 o'clock tonight. If you have any pride of citizenship, any desire to have a voice in your government, any reason to have a part in the selection of your governor, your United States senator and the other officers to be elected, get registered before 10 o'clock tonight.

The fact that you were registered and voted in 1933 has nothing to do with the case this year. Every voter must be registered in 1934 and tonight at 10 o'clock is the dead line beyond which you cannot pass.

Smathers Elected As Guard Leader

HARRISBURG, Oct. 6.—Col. C. Blaine Smathers, of Scotland, Franklin county, was elected president of the Pennsylvania National Guard association at the concluding session of the association's 15th annual convention today.

Pittsburgh was selected for the 1935 meeting.

Other officers elected were: vice-presidents, Col. Arthur C. Colahan, Philadelphia, and Col. William A. March, Philadelphia; secretary, Maj. James H. Dailey, Harrisburg, and treasurer, Col. Leo A. Lutzinger, Harrisburg.

Assignment of unemployed National guard officers to the state's CCC camps was urged in a resolution adopted by the association. Another resolution adopted favored licensing and regulation by law of the sale of toxic chemicals.

Larger appropriations for the purchase of uniforms for enlisted men was urged by Capt. Ernest A. Swingle, of Scranton. The convention also adopted a resolution asking that guardsmen receive new uniforms on enlistment and again on re-enlistment.

mansion and killed, will not be called upon to appear before the grand jury. He will testify at the trial, however.

The grand jury will devote most of its attention to evidence against Hauptmann, who was declared to be of sound mind last night by four of the five alienists who examined him in the Bronx.

His indictment will speed extradition proceedings. Officials intimated that they plan to appear in New York Wednesday with a formal request for Hauptmann's transfer to the jurisdiction of the New Jersey courts.

Defense To Oppose Move
Defense counsel have already made preparations to oppose extradition and will carry the fight to Governor Lehman at Albany. District Attorney Samuel J. Foley and his Bronx aides promised full support for New Jersey in the move to take the prisoner across the river.

If extradition is permitted, Hauptmann may be represented in his murder trial by former State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the celebrated Hall-Kills murder case. Simpson announced he had been approached with a request that he become defense counsel.

That a woman was involved in the Lindbergh case—at least insofar as ransom negotiations were concerned—was definitely conceded by the authorities.

Officials refused to reveal whether or not they have identified the woman. The "Jane Doe" indictment, they pointed out, would be sufficient to hold her should she be apprehended either before or after Hauptmann is brought to trial for murder.

THE QUESTION OF COST

The cost of a funeral depends solely upon the type and grade of merchandise selected and upon the character and amount of service required.

Whether you spend much or little is a question that each family alone can settle. These dependable guides are (1) the standard of living to which each is accustomed. To go far above is misguided sentimentality—far below, mistaken economy. (2) Available funds such as cash on hand and insurance for this purpose. (3) The effect on future income. To spend an amount that would entail future hardship is not good business judgment.

which led it over Washington street to North Mercer street and up North Mercer street to The Castleton. The hotel is the official Johnstown headquarters for the day.

A banner of light blue and black, the guest city's official colors, floated before the Johnstown band as the parade route was traversed.

"Beware, New Castle here comes the Johnstown flood" was another banner, but it was carried on a car of one of the Johnstown rooters who drove here earlier in the day. There were a number of Johnstown cars in the procession.

At The Castleton the parade disbanded, the band was to take lunch and then, if the weather permits, the Johnstown and New Castle bands will play in a reserved section on North Mercer street for a short while before they parade together to Taggart field.

A large room of The Castleton was transferred into a reception hall when the visitors reached the hotel. There local school authorities exchanged greetings with the Johnstown officials.

Rain was pouring at Johnstown this morning when the special left Johnstown fans reported. The special will depart from the Pennsy depot tonight for the return trip to the Flood City on the stroke of 7 o'clock, railroad officials said.

Hundreds of citizens of the eastern city drove here today for the first meeting of a Johnstown and New Castle team.

REBELS CONTROL THREE SPANISH TOWNS

Government Seeks Control

Several Scores Dead; 1500 Under Arrest As Result Of Revolt

ALL OF SPAIN IS PARALYZED

By THOMAS A. LOATZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 6.—Mustering all the armed forces at its command, the two day old Leronx government struggled today to gain control of the socialist inspired revolutionary general strike which held all Spain paralyzed in its bloody grip.

Rebel forces were in control of at least three towns as the day dawned. Several scores lay dead, hundreds were wounded and more than 1,500 were under arrest.

Threat of Secession
Perhaps the most serious problem confronting the central government was the threat of secession of Catalonia, Spain's autonomous eastern provinces which for generations have been at odds with Madrid rule.

An official casualty list published by the government this morning placed the dead at 34. But at least double this number were believed to have been killed. Communists for instance, were known to be hiding their dead in the fear that government forces would ferret out their relatives if the bodies were found in the streets.

Unofficial estimates, based upon speculation, placed the dead as high as 100. Crippled communications lines and the faking and minding of rebel casualty lists made an accurate check impossible.

Large Town Seized
Mieres, having a population of 45,000 was the largest town seized by the rebels. A liberal communist was established by peasants who occupied the city last night, seizing the city hall and reportedly killing a few civil guards in their coup.

Communist, socialist and syndicalist leaders combined forces to seize the city of Sabadell of 40,000 population, and lying just a few miles north of Barcelona, center of the Catalonian unrest.

Uncastillo, a town of 5,000 population near Saragossa, was the third municipality known to be in the hands of the rebels as dawn broke, having been seized in a bitter fracas in which several were killed.

Madrid itself awoke to find the strike continuing, probably even more effectively than yesterday, although the night was peaceful. All public services were manned mainly by military forces who also were responsible for the maintenance of a steady food supply for capital residents.

The minister of the interior issued an optimistic statement today declaring the strike was at a turning point for the better.

CHEST WORKERS WILL CONTINUE DRIVE FOR $72,000

they're called, in the Chest campaign expect to write into pledges the difference needed to meet the goal.

Braham Presides
General Chairman W. Walter Braham presided over the final dinner-meeting last night, introducing, at different times groups and divisions and individuals whose unstinted service has helped to propel this year's campaign.

It took President James K. Love of the Chest board of directors to call for personal praise for the drive's leader, Mr. Braham, and as a demonstration of the appreciation for his able leadership and valued service, the entire army of workers arose.

The campaign's executive director, James A. Blyth, spoke briefly. He explained the details of next week's extra campaigning.

Captains of various teams, Mr. Blyth announced last night, will be called to Community Chest headquarters in the Greer building (fourth floor) next Wednesday at 5 o'clock to receive their share of the 600 cards which will carry the names of prospects as yet not solicited.

The captains will distribute them to the team members for solicitation.

The invocation at last night's dinner was pronounced by Rabbi Avery Jonah Grossfeld of Temple Israel.

He sat at the speakers' table with Captain and Chest board leaders. Words of praise for the entire campaign organization came in the messages which General Chairman Braham and Mr. Love delivered, messages short but laden with a sincere expression of the leaders' gratitude for splendid help.

Land Spirit
Opening last Monday night, the campaign for the $72,000 needed to finance the work of eight of the city's leading character-building institutions during the coming year was termed "no failure." Speakers lauded the spirit of the campaigners in the face of the times.

Benefiting from the Chest will be the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Margaret L. Henry Children's home, the City Rescue Mission and the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Before last night's meeting adjourned the drive's leader, Mr. Braham, publicly thanked local institutions and individuals for valued cooperation in this year's drive.

Among those were The News, Robert C. Love, the Chamber of Commerce, the People's Furniture company, the Service Typewriter Exchange, the campaign staff, The Castleton staff and the entire campaign organization.

Elliot Wins Again
To Major Thomas I. Elliott went a box of cigars for again having the highest rating division in the subscription race and to Captain James L. Vogan cigarettes for heading the leading team. Mrs. George W. Johnson's team of the Women's Crusaders won a box of candy for being highest in last night's subscription call.

Major Elliott's division, it might be said, won the cigars at all of the five different rallies.

Special music featured the program. Totals of the divisions after they reported last night stood as follows:

EDWARDS GIVEN DEATH PENALTY IN GIRL SLAYING

counsel asked him sympathetically. "Very well, thank you," the defendant answered.

He said it in the same tone he might have used in passing the time of day.

None of the parents of Edwards or the dead girl were in the courtroom when the verdict was brought back.

All of them had taken the witness stand during the trial—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Edwards seeking to save their son from execution and Mr. and Mrs. George McKechie seeking vengeance for the betrayal and bludgeoning of Freda.

Proper Verdict
District Attorney Thomas M. Lewis commenting on the verdict said: "It is a proper verdict. Justice has prevailed."

Love and death were discussed in the jury room before the twelve men wrote their message of doom and sealed it in an envelope. After the court clerk, Charles Henderson, had read it, the foreman recorded it verbally and each of the other jurors was polled.

It was on July 30, that the black-haired defendant took Freda on her last auto ride. They had been childhood sweethearts in the little mining town of Edwardsville. Bobby was a mine surveyor, a Sunday school worker, the "Beau Brummel" of his class and enjoyed a reputation for having a way with the ladies.

Freda was a telephone operator. The houses of the McKechie family and the Edwards family adjoined each other. The elder Edwards, paymaster in the Kingston Coal company was a life long friend of Freda's father, employed as a mine boss in the same company.

The McKechies and the Edwards even went to the same church and the wives talked over their back yards to each other.

Meets Another Girl
When Bobby went away to college at Maxwell, Pa., he met a young music student, Margaret Crain. His romance with Freda began to dwindle away and Margaret visited his home in vacation time.

Freda told Bobby a few days before her death that she was to become a mother. Bobby outwardly changed his plans to marry Margaret and promised to do "one honorable thing." He told Freda they would wed the next week.

On the ill-fated July 30 Bobby took Freda for a midnight swim in Harvey's Lake. Paralleling events in the famous "American Tragedy" her body was found the next day.

There was a terrible gash in the back of her head, her clothing was found under a tree on the shore. Bobby was arrested. He told five different stories, signing the last two versions of the tragedy in the form of statements.

Here were the stories:
1.—Freda knocked her head against a dock.
2.—Freda disappeared in the water.

3.—He accidentally hit her jaw while swimming and later she drowned while swimming.
4.—(On which he based his defense)—Freda was stepping into a boat from the dock when she fell in. He could not revive her. A father of her unborn baby, Bobby feared he would be blamed for her death. So he took his father's black-jack from the car on the beach and returned, striking her on the head in order to make her death look like an accident.

(On which the state based its case)—Freda stood in the way of his marriage to Margaret Crain, "the other girl." He had played with the idea of getting rid of Freda "in order to clear up the situation on the night of their last auto ride, he decided 'now was the time to do it.'"

On the way home that night Bobby bought his mother two chocolate bars. Both his parents, on the witness stand, admitted he was unable to sleep that night.

The motive for the slaying of Freda was established by the prosecution in the five day trial through the introduction of his fervid erotic love letters to Margaret Crain. Many of them were unprintable. Those that were contained outbursts of adolescent passion and declarations of eternal love for "Monnet," the term of endearment with which he addressed Margaret. Bobby signed himself "Buddy." Frequently he referred to Margaret as his wife and to himself as her husband.

The "purple" letters written by Bobby were brought into the jury room as almost equal number written by Margaret in reply, also were read by the jurors. These were not permitted to be made public by Judge William Valentine.

Bobby, on the witness stand appeared more anxious to explain his philosophy of love than to testify to save him from the electric chair.

Love was this, and love was that. He had a friendly love for Freda but a marriage love for Margaret. Yes—he had made love to many girls.

Bobby went back to his cell in the county jail.

William Fahey, one of the jurors after concluding his duty, hurried to the bedside of his mother, who was dying.

All he had to do was to give them the Sunday pitch during the clinch and they all went for a Saturday half-holiday.

Cards Favored
As a matter of fact, one has now reached the point where one expects very little of anything from the rest of the series. The Cards were leading this morning by no more than two victories to one but the betting odds quoted them at 1 to 3 the rest of the way and 3 to 5 on today's game. In other words, the book-makers are almost as convinced as the Tigers.

Another man from the great southwest, Tex Carleton, was popularly elected to carry on the Pannhandle tradition of this series today. He is to side-arm the pitching situation on behalf of the Cardinals and, if the previous performances of the Deans, Schoolboy Rowe and Pepper Martin have established anything of a precedent, it should be a common breeze for the young man.

Auker Vs. Carleton.
He is to be opposed by Eldon Auker, the gent who hauls off from his shoe tops and lets them have it from the upside-down angle. Auker, in brief, is an underhand pitcher and, for this reason, might be just what the doctor ordered.

But, regardless of the fact that Auker looks good if only because he hasn't yet been tried, there were those this morning who felt that Cochrane might change his mind overnight and go again with Alvin Crowder.

I wish to contribute only one more statement: That the forecast today is for fair and mild. And after looking over the situation for three games, I might add that so are the Tigers.

Telephone Executive Says Business Conditions Ahead Of Business Sentiment

SPEAKS TO BELL EMPLOYEES HERE

F. J. Chesterman, vice president and general manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, in an address before the employees of the New Castle district last evening, stated that the bottom of the business depression has long been passed and that business conditions at the present time are really much better than business sentiment.

While there may be some reactions of a temporary nature in business, Mr. Chesterman stated that conditions in general are gradually improving.

The meeting, which was held in the Cathedral, was attended by employees of the local district, which includes all of western Pennsylvania, from Sewickley north to Greenville.

Current telephone problems were discussed with the employees by officials of the company.

The Question Of Cost
The cost of a funeral depends solely upon the type and grade of merchandise selected and upon the character and amount of service required.

Whether you spend much or little is a question that each family alone can settle. These dependable guides are (1) the standard of living to which each is accustomed. To go far above is misguided sentimentality—far below, mistaken economy. (2) Available funds such as cash on hand and insurance for this purpose. (3) The effect on future income. To spend an amount that would entail future hardship is not good business judgment.

No tax receipt is needed to register. All that is necessary is for the voter to present himself at the registration polls and answer a few questions as to residence, party affiliation, age and length of time in the district.

mansion and killed, will not be called upon to appear before the grand jury. He will testify at the trial, however.

The grand jury will devote most of its attention to evidence against Hauptmann, who was declared to be of sound mind last night by four of the five alienists who examined him in the Bronx.

His indictment will speed extradition proceedings. Officials indicated that they plan to appear in New York Wednesday with a formal request for Hauptmann's transfer to the jurisdiction of the New Jersey courts.

Defense To Oppose Move
Defense counsel have already made preparations to oppose extradition and will carry the fight to Governor Lehman at Albany. District Attorney Samuel J. Foley and his Bronx aides promised full support for New Jersey in the move to take the prisoner across the river.

If extradition is permitted, Hauptmann may be represented in his murder trial by former State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the celebrated Hall-Mills murder case. Simpson announced that he had been approached with a request that he become defense counsel.

REBELS CONTROL THREE SPANISH TOWNS

Government Seeks Control

Several Scores Dead; 1500 Under Arrest As Result Of Revolt

ALL OF SPAIN IS PARALYZED

By THOMAS A. LOATZA

International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 6.—Mustering all the armed forces of its command, the two day old Lerroux government struggled today to gain control of the socialist inspired revolutionary general strike which held all Spain paralyzed in its bloody grip.

Rebel forces were in control of at least three towns as the day dawned. Several scores lay dead, hundreds were wounded and more than 1,500 were under arrest.

Threat of Secession

Perhaps the most serious problem confronting the central government was the threat of secession of Catalonia, Spain's autonomous eastern provinces which for generations have been at odds with Madrid rulership.

An official casualty list published by the government this morning placed the dead at 34. But at least double this number were believed to have been killed. Communists for instance, were known to be hiding their dead in the fear that government forces would ferret out their relatives if the bodies were found in the streets.

Unofficial estimates, based upon speculation, placed the dead as high as 100. Crippled communications lines and the faking and misfiling of rebel casualty lists made an accurate check impossible.

Large Town Seized

Mieres, having a population of 45,000 was the largest town seized by the rebels. A librarian communism was established by peasants who occupied the city last night, seizing the city hall and reportedly killing a few civil guards in their coup.

Communist, socialist and syndicalist leaders combined forces to seize the city of Sabadell of 40,000 population and lying just a few miles north of Barcelona, center of the Catalonian unrest.

Unusually, a town of 5,000 population near Saragossa was the third municipality known to be in the hands of the rebels as dawn broke, having been seized in a bitter fracas in which several were killed.

Madrid itself awoke to find the strike continuing probably even more effectively than yesterday, although the night was peaceful. All public services were manned mainly by military forces who also were responsible for the maintenance of order and food supply for capital residents.

they're called, in the Chest campaign, expect to write into pledges the difference needed to meet the goal.

Braham Presides

General Chairman W. Walter Braham presided over the final dinner-meeting last night, introducing, at different times groups and divisions and individuals whose untainted service has helped to propel this year's campaign.

It took President James K. Love of the Chest board of directors to call for personal praise for the drive's leader, Mr. Braham, and as a demonstration of its appreciation for his able leadership and valued service, the entire army of workers arose.

The campaign's executive director, James A. Blyth, spoke briefly. He explained the details of next week's extra campaigning.

Captains of various teams, Mr. Blyth announced last night, will be called to Community Chest headquarters in the Greer building (fourth floor) next Wednesday at 5 o'clock to receive their share of the 600 cards which will carry the names of prospects as yet not solicited. The captains will distribute them to the team members for solicitation.

The invocation at last night's dinner was pronounced by Rabbi Avery Jonah Grossfeld of Temple Israel.

He sat at the speakers' table with campaign and Chest board leaders. Words of praise for the entire campaign organization came in the messages which General Chairman Braham and Mr. Love delivered, messages short but laden with a sincere expression of the leaders' gratitude for splendid help.

Laud Spirit

Opening last Monday night, the campaign for the $72,000 needed to finance the work of eight of the city's leading character-building institutions during the coming year was termed "no failure." Speakers lauded the spirit of the campaigners in the face of the times.

Benefitting from the Chest will be the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Margaret L. Henry Children's home, the City Rescue Mission and the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Before last night's meeting adjourned the drive's leader, Mr. Braham, publicly thanked local institutions and individuals for valued cooperation in this year's drive.

Among those were The News, Robert C. Love, the Chamber of Commerce, the People's Furniture company, the Service Typewriter Exchange, the campaign staff, The Castleton staff and the entire campaign organization.

Elliott Wins Again

To Major Thomas I. Elliott went a box of cigars for again having the highest-rating division in the subscription race and to Captain James L. Vogan cigarettes for heading the leading team, Mrs. George W. Johnson's team of the Women's Crusaders won a box of candy for being highest in last night's subscription call. Major Elliott's division, it might be said, won the cigars at all of the five different rallies.

Special music featured the program.

BABY IS KILLED

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—Murder squad detectives today were investigating the death of a week-old infant whose body was found in a well on an untenanted estate here.

The baby's body was discovered accidentally by George Scholes, who went to the 75-foot well to draw water. Police recovered the body with gratification.

An examination of the corpse revealed, Deputy Coroner James McHugh said, that the infant had apparently been stabbed to death about a week ago.

EDWARDS GIVEN DEATH PENALTY IN GIRL SLAYING

counsel asked him sympathetically.

"Very well, thank you," the defendant answered.

He said it in the same tone he might have used in passing the time of day.

None of the parents of Edwards or the dead girl were in the courtroom when the verdict was brought back.

All of them had taken the witness stand during the trial—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Edwards seeking to save their son from execution and Mr. and Mrs. George McKechnie seeking vengeance for the betrayal and bludgeoning of Freda.

Proper Verdict

District Attorney Thomas M. Le-wis commenting on the verdict said: "It is a proper verdict. Justice has prevailed."

Love and death were discussed in the jury room before the twelve men wrote their message of doom and sealed it in an envelope. After the court clerk, Charles Henderson, had read it, the foreman recorded it verbally and each of the other jurors was polled.

It was on July 30, that the black-haired defendant took Freda on her last auto ride. They had been childhood sweethearts in the little mining town of Edwardsville. Bobby was a mine surveyor, a Sunday school worker, the Beau Brummel of his class and enjoyed a reputation for having a way with the ladies.

Freda was a telephone operator. The houses of the McKechnie family and the Edwards family adjoined each other. The elder Edwards, paymaster in the Kingston Coal company was a life long friend of Freda's father, employed as a mine boss in the same company.

The McKechnies and the Edwards even went to the same church and the wives talked over their back yards to each other.

Meets Another Girl

When Bobby went away to college at Mansfield, Pa., he met a young music student, Margaret Crain. His romance with Freda began to dwindle away and Margaret visited his home in vacation time.

Freda told Bobby a few days before her death that she was to become a mother. Bobby outwardly changed his plans to marry Margaret and promised to do "the honorable thing. He told Freda they would be wed the next week."

On the ill-fated July 30 Bobby took Freda for a midnight swim in Harvey's Lake. Paralleling events in the famous "American Tragedy" her body was found the next day.

There was a terrible crash in the back of the house. Her clothes were found under a tree on the shore. Bobby was arrested. He told five different stories, signing the last two versions of the tragedy in the form of statements.

Here were the stories:

1.—Freda knocked her head against a dock.

2.—Freda disappeared in the water.

3.—He accidentally hit her jaw while swimming and later she drowned while swimming.

4.—On which he based his defense.—Freda was stepping into a row boat from the dock when she fainted. He could not revive her. As father of her unborn baby, Bobby feared he would be blamed for her death. So he took his father's black-jack from the car on the beach and returned, striking her on the head in order to make her death look like an accident.

5.—(On which the state based its case).—Freda stood in the way of his marriage to Margaret Crain, "the other girl." He had played with the idea of getting rid of Freda "in order to clear up the situation on the night of their last auto ride, he decided "now was the time to do it."

On the way home that night Bobby bought his mother two chocolate bars. Both his parents, on the witness stand, admitted he was unable to sleep that night.

The motive for the slaying of Freda was established by the prosecution in the five day trial through the introduction of his fervid erotic love letters to Margaret Crain. Many of them were unprintable. Those that were contained outbursts of adolescent passion and declarations of eternal love for "Momet," the term of endearment with which he addressed Margaret. Bobby signed himself "Buddy." Frequently he referred to Margaret as his wife and to himself as her husband.

The 172 "purple" letters written by Bobby were brought into the jury room an almost equal number, written by Margaret in reply, also were read by the jurors. These were not permitted to be made public by Judge William Valentine.

Bobby, on the witness stand appeared more anxious to explain his philosophy of love than to testify to save him from the electric chair.

Love was this, and love was that. He had a friendly love for Freda but a marriage love for Margaret. Yes, he had made love to many girls.

Bobby went back to his cell in the county jail.

William Fahey, one of the jurors after concluding his duty, hurried to the bedside of his mother, who was dying.

TIGERS CHANGE BATTING ORDER IN FOURTH GAME

the fourth or clean-up spot, followed by Rogell and then Mr. Greenberg.

In this way, it is hoped that yesterday's innocuous performance need not be repeated endlessly, uselessly, aimlessly, and to no practical purpose. The younger and less garrulous of the Deans, first name Paul, did not give a particularly impressive performance that time but the necessity was not urgent. All he had to do was to give them the Sunday pitch during the clinches and they all went for a Saturday half-holiday.

Cards Favored

As a matter of fact, one has now reached the point where one expects very little of anything from the rest of the series. The Cards were leading this morning by no more than two victories to one but the betting odds quoted them at 1 to 3 the rest of the way and 3 to 5 on today's game. In other words, the book-makers are almost as convinced as the Tigers.

Another man from the great southwest, Tex Carleton, was popularly elected to carry on the Panhandle tradition of this series today. He is to side-arm the pitching situation on behalf of the Cardinals and, if the previous performances of the Deans, Schoolboy Rowe and Pepper Martin have established anything of a precedent, it should be a common breeze for the young man.

Auker Vs. Carleton

He is to be opposed by Eldon Auker, the gent who hauls off from his shoe tops and lets them have it from the upside-down angle. Auker, in brief, is an underhand pitcher and, for this reason, might be just what the doctor ordered.

But, regardless of the fact that Auker looks good if only because he hasn't yet been tried, there were those this morning who felt that Cochrane might change his mind overnight and go again with Alvin Crowder.

I wish to contribute only one more statement: That the forecast today is for fair and mild. And after looking over the situation for three games, I might add that so are the Tigers.

ELKS INAUGURATE SERIES OF PARTIES

This week has been an outstanding one, socially, in that there have been more large parties, opening luncheons for many of the clubs, dances and evening affairs, than there have been for some time.

Another of these prominent events which attracted over a hundred people, was the Elks party last evening in the club rooms on North Mill St. As this was the first in a series which will be given, fortnightly, there was a large attendance which augurs well for the following parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Agnew were hosts, and they were ably assisted by a committee, composed of Edward J. Ryan, Jack Gerson, Abe Levine, G. W. Thomas, Edward F. Ryan, Max Ludwig, Julius Blah, Thomas Dukes and Harry D. Horner.

Twenty-five tables were used for the card games, concluding which lovely prizes were awarded in bridge to Mrs. James Horean, Mrs. Edward L. Foster, D. B. Kagy and Joseph Hartland; 500, Mrs. Albert Sullivan, Mrs. Grace Shook, L. E. Sweet, Joseph Crable; bingo, Mrs. George W. Thomas, Helen Dunlap, Mrs. E. F. Ryan, T. Nelson, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. C. L. Hughes, Earl Dukes. Refreshments were served under the direction of Lucy Moffatt.

Friday, October 19, is the date of the next evening party, with Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Ryan, hosts.

Victory Bible Class

Mrs. Henry Brudin, Sheridan avenue, entertained the members of the Victory Bible class of St. John's Lutheran church at a party Thursday evening to open their social activities for the fall.

Plans were made for a Halloween party Thursday, Oct. 25, after which other activities were discussed and a social period enjoyed.

The November meeting will be with Mrs. Bertha Higgins, Butler avenue, with Mrs. E. R. Wolf as associate hostess.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Brudin and her associate, Mrs. Frank Wimer.

ELKS INAUGURATE SERIES OF PARTIES

This week has been an outstanding one, socially, in that there have been more large parties, opening luncheons for many of the clubs, dances and evening affairs, than there have been for some time.

Another of these prominent events which attracted over a hundred people, was the Elks party last evening in the club rooms on North Mill St. As this was the first in a series which will be given, fortnightly, there was a large attendance which augurs well for the following parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Agnew were hosts, and they were ably assisted by a committee, composed of Edward J. Ryan, Jack Gerson, Abe Levine, G. W. Thomas, Edward F. Ryan, Max Ludwig, Julius Blahs, Thomas Dukes and Harry D. Horner.

Twenty-five tables were used for the card games, concluding which lovely prizes were awarded in bridge to Mrs. James Horean, Mrs. Edward L. Foster, D. B. Kagy and Joseph Harland; 500, Mrs. Albert Sullivan, Mrs. Grace Shook, L. E. Sweet, Joseph Crabtree, George W. Thomas, Helen Dunlap, Mrs. E. F. Ryan, T. J. Nelson, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. C. L. Hughes, Earl Dukes.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Lucy Moffatt.

Friday, October 19, is the date of the next evening party, with Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Ryan, hosts.

OUR ALIEN LAWS

THE apprehension of Bruno Hauptmann, the alleged kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby, has served once more to call to the attention of the public the laxity of our immigration laws. Hauptmann was known in his home community in Germany as the bad boy of the town. He had an unsavory record, escaped jail and came to the United States as a stowaway. He was an undesirable alien in every sense of the word, was unlawfully in the United States, yet he married here and got himself a family.

With the proper sort of immigration enforcement Hauptmann would have been apprehended and sent back to Germany long ago, to be dealt with by the authorities there as they saw fit. Enforcement of the immigration laws is difficult because of the size and extent of our country and of the number of aliens here.

But a law requiring every alien in the country to register and carry an identification card would go a long way toward solving the problem. Such a law would have taken care of Hauptmann's case years ago. It would inflict no hardship on any law abiding alien who was in the country legally, and would be an embarrassment only to those who have no right to be here and are doing our country no good.

A great deal of sentimental slush has been written on the subject by many so-called liberals whose interest is not so much in the "poor aliens" as in seeing to it that the supply of radical agitators from Europe is not curtailed.

Americans who go to European countries are compelled to register not only once, but many times, in fact each time they change their residence from one city to another. This doesn't debasement them in any way or deprive them of any legitimate rights.

Why can't we be sensible enough to have similar provisions in the United States.

A NATION ON THE DOLE

A nation on the dole, when election day comes, is interested chiefly in voting not only continued doles but bigger and better doles. Such is the astonishing situation in the United States now, according to Walter Davenport, writing in Collier's Weekly, after a swing around the country. Local issues—as, in Pennsylvania, Joequiffism—are but provincial models of the issue that is their national prototype—federal handouts.

Drought, depression, failure of the heavy industries to show re-employment gains, these are factors in the soaring costs of relief. But are they the only factors? "As long," says Mr. Davenport, "as the Roosevelt administration continues to pour money into the Federal Emergency Relief offices and as long as the Federal Treasury continues to lend money to states for local relief activities, the National Republican Committee with its economy blather might as well save its expense money."

Mr. Davenport adds that in many western states candidates for local offices are themselves on relief and proud of it. As one candidate says, "A vote for me is a vote for Roosevelt and bigger relief. The government is supporting me and my family. Support the government." Even more serious is Mr. Davenport's charge that "thousands are receiving relief from both federal and state agencies." In Illinois the state relief machinery has a padded personnel of 9000, with total salaries of $642,000 a month.

To decry relief grafters is an obvious reaction to these conditions. But is the fault really theirs? The Roosevelt administration, far gone in its dole policy, knows it cannot modify its munificence except at the cost of votes. Can the beneficiaries be condemned seriously for taking what is shoved at them? Easy money from the government may seem to many like gold found in the back yard or a long promised request come true.

Moreover, relief is only one phase of administrative profligacy. Wheat and cotton farmers are being paid for crops they do not grow. With election only a little over a month away, $100,000,000 in corn-hog benefit payments has gone out to the voters, and many more millions are still to be disbursed. Also, PWA Administrator Ickes is clamoring for new billions for use on projects of dubious necessity.

The United States is on the dole, but there still is a chance to save it from economic and moral collapse by electing a congress that will, while providing essential relief, put a stop to the outrageous waste of public funds; that will demand to know where the money is going before it is appropriated; that will remove the parasites from relief and other agencies by calling a halt on the administration's outpouring of easy money.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

ANOTHER SPASM

Tokyo newspapers, and presumably Japanese high officials whose views they reflect, again are seeing things.

They profess to believe the United States is preparing to make war on Japan.

The cause of their latest spasm of fear is found in the announcement that the 1935 American fleet maneuvers will be held in Hawaiian waters.

Responsible Japanese officials along with well informed Japanese editors must and do know there is no basis for such fear. But to strengthen its hands in its future dealings with the United States the government must make the people believe that in the United States their country has a powerful potential enemy liable at any moment to open hostilities. By creating this impression, the government will be able to raise more easily the money with which to increase its army and navy and it will have popular support in its demand for a fleet second to none.

Since Japan stands virtually alone as America's potential enemy in the Pacific any naval preparations in that area naturally are aimed at Japan. Washington knows this and Tokyo knows it. But this does not mean that the United States wants war or expects war. It simply represents a precaution such as Japan and all other nations take.

There is no justification for the fears and suspicions being voiced in the Tokyo press. But there is a purpose to serve at home, and this is being done.

With Theodore G. Bilbo and Huey Long in the senate, the country should not suffer for lack of amusement during the next session of congress.

NOT JUST A HEAP OF SHAVINGS

A man told me a story yesterday. One I'll not be forgetting.

One, perhaps, that you'd like to read and remember.

He said that once, while he was waiting at a railroad station, he saw a man sitting on a bench whittling on a piece of wood. The man was working carefully, almost painstakingly. He was carving something on the wood, but the watcher was too distant to see what was being made. . . . He assumed, however, that it was to be something very fine. . . . The carver was patient, tireless, deeply intent on his occupation. He'd cut and cut and then he'd scrape away what he'd done and start all over again. Little by little, however, the stick became smaller and smaller with those alternated carvings and scrapings, until at last there was nothing left at all. . . . And then, after half an hour of work, the whittler stood up, closed his knife, put it in his pocket, yawned, filled his pipe and sauntered away, leaving nothing where he had been working so long, but a heap of shavings for the wind to blow upon and scatter across the street.

The man who told me about that said the incident made him sort of melancholy, but it set him to thinking and to wondering about his own life. . . . Wondering if he was doing anything more with his days than just making a heap of shavings for the wind to blow away. And he decided that before he left this place he'd get one thing done that might last. It might not be anything big, that would make him famous. But he would do something he could look back upon and say, "Well, at least I did something more than eat and drink and smoke and earn a bit of money and leave nothing behind but a heap of shavings."

He'll find something worth while, something real—that man. He's looking for it now. And when he finds it, there'll be a happy look in his eyes. There'll be a lift to his chin. There'll be a lift to his whole life, a greater joy in living, a peace in his heart, a warming, comforting glow at the center of his existence. . . . He'll be for all the rest of his days a contented man. . . . Just because he got one thing done when the golden bowl is broken and the silver cord of this life is loosened, he will be leaving something more than a meaningless heap of shavings.

ADJUST YOURSELF TO ECONOMIC CHANGE

Are you a sitter on the side-lines, grumbling as you watch the world go by?

There is no sense in cultivating a perverted vision that forces you to see nothing but faults or blemishes.

You say the country is going from bad to worse, everything sliding down hill.

The old world is topsy-turvy, and will not right itself.

People generally are hell-bound—greasing the toboggan as they slide a downward course.

The economic system will never reach a stable state again, and you take pleasure in emphasizing the world's financial ills.

The human race has degenerated to such an extent that generations must come and go before there can be hope of humanity's uplift.

It is your idea that all our systems of government are wrong.

The whole thing might as well go to smash and start over again, is the way you see it, but that is where you are wrong.

The constitution is right, the system of government is good, and there is a legitimate way to correct evils when they crop out.

You are unwilling to adjust yourself, and there the trouble lies.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—So far as this city known as business "sentiment" is concerned, Cleveland is the bluest community that I have visited thus far," writes Bernard Kilgore in the Wall Street Journal.

"Probably," adds Mr. Kilgore, "the current rate of industrial activity has a great deal to do with it. When all the September figures are in, they will show that industrial Cleveland has lost all of its gains since the New Deal began."

Then one turns to the Youngstown Vindicator, mentor of this great steel area, and one reads on the front page this headline:

"Industrial Sky Brightens Over District. Fairless (executive vice president of the Republic Steel Corporation) Says Steel Men Feel Sure Bottom Is Passed. Reports Best Two Weeks Since June. Periodicals Show Pickup Is General Throughout Steel Trade."

Both statements of opinion probably are true. But neither is quite down to bed rock.

Business interests in the Cleveland area, as well as in all other areas, are worried. The larger interests frankly are battling labor. The small interests are battling for existence. Beyond all that, however, they are worried because of a Great Change. Where it is leading? The Roosevelt administration does not seem to be able to answer. And, if it did answer, the response would not be satisfactory.

And labor, too, demands an answer. It believes its gains have been illusory—the gains actually have suffered loss of rights and income. As for the steel business, it is certain to pick up. The government is spending so much money on projects that steel will benefit. The moment, however, there is a lull in the spending, steel droops. It is unnatural. It is inflation. But tell the steel men that—and they don't care, any more than do farmers, or seemingly anybody else, if inflation brings them money, even temporarily.

OHIO is a conservative state. This writer has studied it for a number of years from all angles. Ohio is a state whose massed intelligence is among the highest of any group of people in the world.

Ohio went for Roosevelt in 1932 by only a small margin.

It is a state of selective choices, not always wise. President Roosevelt is less sure of Ohio than any other "Roosevelt" state.

But, if several days' observation mean anything, Ohio now has become extremely critical of critics of the New Deal. If it turns its back on Roosevelt it will be because it believes he has not really given a New Deal. And even if it elects A. Vic Donahay as United States senator over the veteran Senator Simon Fess, that may not be considered a Roosevelt victory.

RELIEF In Cleveland, the relief situation is as bad as elsewhere. How long the nation will be able to carry the relief situation in its present unsatisfactory state is a question.

One of the arguments made for England relates to its social insurance measures. Such measures, obtained some 20 years ago, cushioned the depression there, according to dispatches from England.

In the United States, where congress now is likely to pass social insurance measures, the deterioration has proceeded so far that merely social insurance will not stop it. Some means of putting the factories to work to produce what people actually need will have to be devised.

The World War Day-By-Day—Oct. 6, 1914—An intercepted wireless message to the moving picture studio, Dresden, which stated that the way to success lay in the hands of the sea.

On the 6th, a Japanese force of 10,000 men landed on the island of the South Sea Islands. His cruisers, Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Nürnberg, Leipzig and Emden threatened British and French possessions in China, Australia and East Indies and caused a reaction that was felt all over the world. The Emden was detached for raids in the East Indies and began a historic and thrilling adventure in the Mariana Islands where the squadron emptied the last fleet of supply ships that was to reach them unscathed.

From then on, the squadron was to give the Land of the Rising Sun a big opportunity to make a place for herself in the sun as the active and useful ally of Western nations in the greatest of wars, and an excuse for appropriating German spheres of influence in the Far East for her own. For Britain and the Japanese and line of communications to the Orient from Van Spee's cruisers.

Japanese armies already had undertaken the reduction of Tsing-tao, the almost impregnable German fortress-base on Kiaochow Bay. Now, on the 6th, a Japanese force seized the Marshall Islands to prevent their further use by Van Spee's base. Meanwhile Japanese cruisers were conveying Australian and New Zealand troops ships to the west; and Japanese cruisers were patrolling the west coast of America for the Allies.

OUR ALIEN LAWS

THE apprehension of Bruno Hauptmann, the alleged kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby, has served once more to call to the attention of the public the laxity of our immigration laws. Hauptmann was known in his home community in Germany as the bad boy of the town. He had an unsavory record, escaped jail and came to the United States as a stowaway. He was an undesirable alien in every sense of the word, was unlawfully in the United States, yet he married here and got himself a family.

With the proper sort of immigration enforcement Hauptmann would have been apprehended and sent back to Germany long ago, to be dealt with by the authorities there as they saw fit. Enforcement of the immigration laws is difficult because of the size and extent of our country and of the number of aliens here.

But a law requiring every alien in the country to register and carry an identification card would go a long way toward solving the problem. Such a law would have taken care of Hauptmann's case years ago. It would inflict no hardship on any law abiding alien who was in the country legally, and would be an embarrassment only to those who have no right to be here and are doing our country no good.

A great deal of sentimental slush has been written on the subject by many so-called liberals whose interest is not so much in the "poor aliens" as in seeing to it that the supply of radical agitators from Europe is not curtailed.

Americans who go to European countries are compelled to register not only once, but many times, in fact each time they change their residence from one city to another. This doesn't debase them in any way or deprive them of any legitimate rights.

Why can't we be sensible enough to have similar provisions in the United States.

A NATION ON THE DOLE

A nation on the dole, when election day comes, is interested chiefly in voting not only continued doles but bigger and better doles. Such is the astonishing situation in the United States now, according to Walter Davenport, writing in Collier's Weekly, after a swing around the country. To decry relief grafters is an obvious reaction to these conditions. But is the fault really theirs? Can the beneficiaries be condemned seriously for taking what is shoved at them? Easy money from the government may seem to many like gold found in the back yard or a long promised request come true.

Moreover, relief is only one phase of administrative profligacy. Wheat and cotton farmers are being paid for crops they do not grow. With election only a little over a month away, $100,000,000 in corn-hog benefit payments has gone out to the voters, and many more millions are still to be disbursed. And he decided that before he left this place he'd get one thing done that might last. It might not be anything big, that would make him famous. But he would do something he could look back upon and say: "Well, at least I did something more than eat and drink and smoke and earn a bit of money and leave nothing behind but a heap of shavings."

He'll find something worth while, something real—that man. He's looking for it now. And when he finds it, there'll be a happy look in his eyes. There'll be a lift to his chin. There'll be a lift to his whole life, a greater joy in living, a peace in his heart, a warming, comforting glow in the center of his existence. He'll be for all the rest of his days a contented man. . . . Just because he will know that when the golden bowl is broken and the silver cord of this life is loosened, he will be leaving something more than a meaningless heap of shavings.

ADJUST YOURSELF TO ECONOMIC CHANGE

Are you a sinner on the side-lines, grumbling as you watch the world go by?

There is no sense in cultivating a perverted vision that forces you to see nothing but faults or blemishes.

You say the country is going from bad to worse, everything sliding down hill.

The old world is topsy-turvy, and will not right itself.

People generally are hell-bound—greasing the toboggan as they slide a downward course.

The economic system will never reach a stable state again, and you take pleasure in emphasizing the world's financial ills.

The human race has degenerated to such an extent that generations must come and go before there can be hope of humanity's uplift.

It is your idea that all our systems of government are wrong.

The whole thing might as well go to smash and start over again, is the way you see it, but that is where you are wrong.

The constitution is right, the system of government is good, and there is a legitimate way to correct evils when they crop out.

You are unwilling to adjust yourself, and there the trouble lies.

THE FAILURE'S TRIUMPH

He failed to gain the goal he sought, yet he has struggled on.

"Had he been stronger," some one thought.

His battle had been won.

Perhaps the failure really knew a truth he could not teach.

And that the good he hoped to do lay just beyond his reach.

Time passed and o'er that unknown land.

Where once his feet had trailed.

The stronger man adventured and succeeded where he'd failed.

Glimpsing the truth he held in view.

Who faltered when attacked.

He sensed the failure's dream was true.

'Twas only strength he lacked!

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—"So far as that thing known as business 'sentiment' is concerned, Cleveland is the bluest community that I have visited thus far," writes Bernard Kilgore in the Wall Street Journal.

"Probably," adds Mr. Kilgore, "the current rate of industrial activity has a great deal to do with it. When all the September figures are in, they will show that industrial Cleveland has lost all of its gains since the New Deal began."

Then one turns to the Youngstown Vindicator, mentor of this great steel area, and one reads on the front page this headline:

"Industrial Sky Brightener Over District. Fairless (executive vice president of the Republic Steel corporation) Says Steel Men Feel Sure Bottom Is Passed. Reports Best Two Weeks Since June. Periodicals Show Pickup Is General Throughout Steel Trade."

Both statements of opinion probably are true. But neither is quite down to bed rock.

Business interests in the Cleveland area, as well as in all other areas, are worried. The larger interests frankly are battling labor. The small interests are battling for existence. Beyond all that, however, they are worried because of a Great Change. Where it is leading? The Roosevelt administration does not seem to be able to answer. And, if it did answer, the response would not be satisfactory.

And labor, too, demands an answer. It believes its gains have been illusory—that it actually has suffered loss of rights and income. As for the steel business, it is certain to pick up. The government is spending so much money on projects that steel will benefit. The moment, however, there is a lull in the spending, steel drops. It is unnatural. It is inflation. But tell the steel men that—and they don't care, any more than do farmers, or seemingly anybody else, if inflation brings them money, even temporarily.

OHIO Ohio is a conservative state. This writer has studied it for a number of years from all angles. Ohio is a state whose massed intelligence is among the highest of any group of people in the world.

Ohio went for Roosevelt in 1932 by only a small margin.

It is a state of selective choices, not always wise. President Roosevelt is less sure of Ohio than any other "Roosevelt" state.

But, if several days' observation mean anything, Ohio now has become extremely critical of critics of the New Deal. If it turns its back on Roosevelt it will be because it believes he has not really given a New Deal. And even if it elects A. Vic Donahey as United States senator over the veteran Senator Simon Fess, that may not be considered a Roosevelt victory.

RELIEF In Cleveland, the relief situation is as bad as elsewhere. How long the nation will be able to carry the relief situation in its present unsatisfactory state is a question.

One of the arguments made for England relates to its social insurance measures. Such measures, obtained some 20 years ago, cushioned the depression there, according to dispatches from England.

In the United States, where congress now is likely to pass social insurance measures, the deterioration has proceeded so far that merely social insurance will not stop it. Some means of putting the factories to work to produce what people actually need would have to be devised.

SATURDAY, OCT. 6

The World Day-By-Day—

Oct. 6, 1914—An intercepted wireless message to the moving cruiser Dresden, which stated he was on the way to Easter Island, located the elusive Cruiser.

The information they had concerning his previous movements left no doubt that he intended to make a dash for home. Squadrons were sent off to intercept or pursue him.

When the war broke out he was on a voyage with the squadron from the German base at Tsing-tau to the South Sea Islands. His cruisers, Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Nürnberg, Leipzig and Emden threatened British and French possessions in China, Australia and East Indies and caused reactions that were felt all over the world. The Emden was detached for raids in the East Indies and began a historic and thrilling adventure in the Mariana Islands where the squadron emptied the last fleet of supply ships that was to reach them.

Then on the squadron was to give the Land of the Rising Sun her big opportunity to make a place for herself in the sun as the active and useful ally of Western nations in the greatest of wars, and an excuse for appropriating German spheres of influence in the Far East for her own.

For her own. For the British possessions and line of communications in the Orient from Van Spee's cruisers.

Japanese armies already had undertaken the reduction of Tsing-tau, the almost impregnable German fortress-base on Kiaochow bay. Now, on the 6th, a Japanese force seized the Marshall Islands to prevent their further use by Van Spee as a base.

Meanwhile Japanese cruisers were conveying Australian and New Zealand troops ships to the west; and Japanese cruisers were patrolling the west coast of America for the Allies.

OUR ALIEN LAWS

THE apprehension of Bruno Hauptmann, the alleged kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby, has served once more to call to the attention of the public the laxity of our immigration laws. Hauptmann was known in his home community in Germany as the bad boy of the town. He had an unsavory record, escaped jail and came to the United States as a stowaway. He was an undesirable alien in every sense of the word, was unlawfully in the United States, yet he married here and got himself a family.

With the proper sort of immigration enforcement Hauptmann would have been apprehended and sent back to Germany long ago, to be dealt with by the authorities there as they saw fit. Enforcement of the immigration laws is difficult because of the size and extent of our country and of the number of aliens here.

But a law requiring every alien in the country to register and carry an identification card would go a long way toward solving the problem. Such a law would have taken care of Hauptmann's case years ago. It would inflict no hardship on any law abiding alien who was in the country legally, and would be an embarrassment only to those who have no right to be here and are doing our country no good.

A great deal of sentimental slush has been written on the subject by many so-called liberals whose interest is not so much in the "poor aliens" as in seeing to it that the supply of radical agitators from Europe is not curtailed.

Americans who go to European countries are compelled to register not only once, but many times, in fact each time they change their residence from one city to another. This doesn't debase them in any way or deprive them of any legitimate rights.

Why can't we be sensible enough to have similar provisions in the United States.

A NATION ON THE DOLE

A nation on the dole, when election day comes, is interested chiefly in voting not only continued doles but bigger and better doles. Such is the astonishing situation in the United States now, according to Walter Davenport, writing in Collier's Weekly, after a swing around the country. Local issues—as, in Pennsylvania, Joequettism—are but provincial models of the issue that is their national prototype—federal handouts.

Drought, depression, failure of the heavy industries to show re-employment gains, these are factors in the soaring costs of relief. But are they the only factors? "As long," says Mr. Davenport, "as the Roosevelt administration continues to pour money into the Federal Emergency Relief offices and as long as the Federal Treasury continues to lend money to states for local relief activities, the National Republican Committee with its economy blather might as well save its expense money."

Mr. Davenport adds that in many western states candidates for local offices are themselves on relief and proud of it. As one candidate says, "A vote for me is a vote for Roosevelt and bigger relief. The government is supporting me and my family. Support the government." Even more serious is Mr. Davenport's charge that "thousands are receiving relief from both federal and state agencies." In Illinois the state relief machinery has a padded personnel of 9000, with total salaries of $642,000 a month.

To deny relief gratters is an obvious reaction to these conditions. But is the fault really theirs? The Roosevelt administration, far gone in its dole policy, knows it cannot modify its munificence except at the cost of votes. Can the beneficiaries be condemned seriously for taking what is shoved at them? Easy money from the government may seem to many like gold found in the back yard or a long promised request come true.

Moreover, relief is only one phase of administrative profligacy. Wheat and cotton farmers are being paid for crops they do not grow. With election only a little over a month away, $100,000,000 in corn-hog benefit payments has gone out to the voters, and many more millions are still to be disbursed. Also, PWA Administrator Ickes is clamoring for new billions for use on projects of dubious necessity.

The United States is on the dole, but there still is a chance to save it from economic and moral collapse by electing a congress that will, while providing essential relief, put a stop to the outrageous waste of public funds; that will demand to know where the money is going before it is appropriated; that will remove the parasites from relief and other agencies by calling a halt on the administration's outpouring of easy money.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

ANOTHER SPASM

Tokyo newspapers, and presumably Japanese high officials whose views they reflect, again are seeing things.

They profess to believe the United States is preparing to make war on Japan.

The cause of their latest spasm of fear is found in the announcement that the 1935 American fleet maneuvers will be held in Hawaiian waters.

Responsible Japanese officials along with well informed Japanese editors must and do know there is no basis for such fear. But to strengthen its hands in its future dealings with the United States the government must make the people believe that in the United States their country has a powerful potential enemy liable at any moment to open hostilities. By creating this impression, the government will be able to raise more easily the money with which to increase its army and navy and it will have popular support in its demand for a fleet second to none.

Since Japan stands virtually alone as America's potential enemy in the Pacific any naval preparations in that area naturally are aimed at Japan. Washington knows this and Tokyo knows it. But this does not mean that the United States wants war or expects war. It simply represents a precaution such as Japan and all other nations take.

There is no justification for the fears and suspicions being voiced in the Tokyo press. But there is a purpose to serve at home, and this is being done.

With Theodore G. Bilbo and Huey Long in the senate, the country should not suffer for lack of amusement during the next session of congress.

NOT JUST A HEAP OF SHAVINGS
A man told me a story yesterday. One I'll not be forgetting.

One, perhaps, that you'd like to read and remember.
He said that once, while he was waiting for a railroad station, he saw a man sitting on a bench whittling on a piece of wood. The man was working carefully, almost painstakingly. He was carving something on the wood, but the watcher was too distant to see what was being made. He assumed, however, that it was to be something very fine. The carver was patient, tireless, deeply intent on his occupation. He'd cut and cut and then he'd scrape away what he'd done and start all over again. Little by little, however, the stick became smaller and smaller with those alternated carvings and scrapings, until at last there was nothing left at all. And then, after half an hour of work, the whittler stood up, closed his knife, put it in his pocket, yawned, filled his pipe and sauntered away, leaving nothing where he had been working so long, but a heap of shavings for the wind to blow upon and scatter across the street.

The man who told me about that said the incident made him sort of melancholy, but it set him to thinking and to wondering about his own life. . . . Wondering if HE was doing anything more with his days than just making a heap of shavings for the wind to blow away. And he decided that before he left this place he'd get one thing done that might last. It might not be anything big, that would make him famous. But he would do something he could look back upon and say: "Well, at least I did something more than eat and drink and smoke and earn a bit of money and leave nothing behind but a heap of shavings."

He'll find something worth while, something real—that man. He's looking for it now. And when he finds it, there'll be a happy look in his eyes. There'll be a lift to his chin. There'll be a life to his life. A greater joy in living, a peace in his heart, a warming, comforting glow at the center of his existence. . . . He'll be for all the rest of his days a contented man. . . . Just because he will know that when the golden bowl is broken and the silver cord of his life is loosened, he will be leaving something more than a meaningless heap of shavings.

Add signs of improvement: We trust one or two men who have finally stopped bragging about how much money they were losing.

NOT FIT FOR OFFICE
Down in Delaware politics has become a pretty low-down occupation, if we listen to James H. Alles, Jr., editor of the Dover State Sentinel, who writes:

"The type of man chosen for public office in Delaware during the last few years, in many instances, has been of such low order of intellect and civic experience that now most everyone you meet on the street feels that he is especially qualified to fill any public office and is at least a candidate for anything from United States Senator to Coroner and is expecting political lightning to strike him at any time."

Correct This Sentence: "The more expensive hal," said the husband, "looks better on you."

At least there is enough honor among thieves to despise people who are guilty of some other kind of wrong-doing.

Bank bandits are still doing their stuff most every day in this country. They at least pick out a bank in which they think there is money.

EDITORS VS. PREACHERS
The editor of the Abilene (Kan.) Reflector recently made some comparisons between the lot of preachers and editors which we reprint:

"It is great to be a preacher. He has many advantages over an editor. He wears better clothes, has donation parties when the family larder is low, does not have to worry about meeting the weekly payroll, gets chances to kiss pretty girls, has reduced fares on the railroads, can make a speech and nobody can talk back and does not have to consider the NRA, and altogether has a glorious time."

The editor writes a piece and touches subscribers stop the paper. If he does not write pieces they stop the paper because there is no news in it. He is in constant danger from libel suits and irate readers' attacks, but—and here is where the editor has it over the preacher—he does not have to take a vote of his subscribers every year to decide whether or not he shall stay on the job or move on to another charge. He is lucky—it would be wearing to have to move every year, as would be his lot."

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—So far as that thing known as business "sentiment" is concerned, Cleveland is the bluest community that I have visited thus far," writes Bernard Kilgore in the Wall Street Journal.

"Probably," adds Mr. Kilgore, "the current rate of industrial activity has a great deal to do with it. When all the September figures are in, they will show that industrial Cleveland has lost all of its gains since the New Deal began."

Then one turns to the Youngstown Vindicator, mentor of the great steel area, and one reads on the front page this headline:

"Industrial Brighter Over District. Fairless (executive vice president of the Republic Steel corporation) Says Steel Men Feel Sure Bottom Is Passed. Reports Best Two Weeks Since June. Periodicals Show Pickup Is General Throughout Steel Trade."

Both statements of opinion probably are true. But neither is quite down to bed rock.

Business interests in the Cleveland area, as well as in all other areas, are worried. The larger interests, frankly, are battling labor. The small interests are battling for existence. Beyond all that, however, they are worried because of a Great Change. Where it is leading? The Roosevelt administration does not seem to be able to answer. And, if it did answer, the response would not be satisfactory.

And labor, too, demands an answer. It believes its gains have been illusory—that it actually has suffered loss of rights and income.

Tomorrow will be observed as Rally Day in the Central Presbyterian church. The Sabbath school will convene at the usual hour with George E. McClelland in charge. There will be the usual teaching period.

Promptly at 10:30 all the departments will assemble in the auditorium where there will be a special program in a combined service of Sabbath school and church. Mrs. Mont L. Alley, with her assistants, will have a promotional program, with recitation, special music, assisted by the Sabbath school orchestra.

Dr. C. B. Wingerd will preach a short sermon adapted to all the groups and the spirit of Rally Day.

The Sunday school of the Highland United Presbyterian church will have the regular lesson study period of 9:45 Sunday morning and at 10:30 all classes will assemble in the auditorium for a combined service.

A goal of 700 has been set for the attendance mark, and all classes are striving 100 per cent of the members present. This is the third time the Sunday school has set this goal, but on the two previous occasions have fallen short just a few of the number and it is anticipated that the goal will be reached this time.

The members of the Star club, persons who have not missed more than two Sabbaths during the year, will occupy a specially reserved section of the church and 125 will be given a recognition token.

The church is being beautifully decorated for the day by the members of the Linder school.

A number of people are rather careless about paying their newsboy, and it places a hardship on him, as he pays for your paper a week in advance. He is an individual merchant, and is in business for himself.

HELP HIM BY PAYING PROMPTLY.

Thanks!

The New Castle Ministerial Association will meet at the First Presbyterian church Monday morning at 10:30. The speaker will be Rabbi Avery Jonas Grossfield of Temple Israel. He will have as his subject "Modern Zionism."

United Lutheran Church Convention

Important Policies Will Be Considered At Convention In Savannah, Georgia

The national United Lutheran church convention will be held in Savannah, Ga., October 17 to 24 and all Lutherans of the country are vitally interested in the question to be considered at this time.

Shall women be granted the authority to be lay delegates to church conventions? Shall the Women's Missionary Society, the Luther League and the Brotherhood be promoted to the status of agencies of the church instead of remaining mere auxiliaries? Shall the government of the United Lutheran church become more centralized, in line with the tendency toward the greater nationalization of government all over the world?

What instructions shall the United Lutheran church give to its over a million members as to their attitude toward motion picture reform movements? These questions appear from copies of the convention Bulletin received here to be the chief topics which engage the attention and thought of the 600 delegates who will attend. The answers, as given there, will be of deepest concern to the 84,000 adherents of this branch of the Lutheran faith who live in this section of our nation.

The matter of women's rights to a voice in church government came before the convention at Philadelphia in 1932. Not satisfied with the divided report then presented, the subject was referred back to the committee. Again at Savannah the committee will present a majority report favoring the proposal, while a minority report will oppose the legislation on scriptural grounds.

The committee on moral and social welfare will recommend that strongly urgent instructions be given to church members to ally themselves actively with all reasonable movements looking toward the moral control of the modern amusement industry of the motion picture. The traditional Lutheran church position on such matters is "hands off." The proponents of the recommendation will point out that it does not commit the church as such to a reform movement, but that it suggests a sphere for Christian action to the individual Lutheran. No decisions on this or any of the other questions will be reached without debate. The Savannah convention is sure to furnish news.

Interest in actions expected to come down from the convention of the United Lutheran society of the United Lutheran church, being held September 30 to October 3 at Dayton, O., is turning the eyes of the women of the Pittsburgh Synod to the 16th annual convention of the Synodical Missionary society, beginning Oct. 9 in the First Lutheran church, Main and Clay streets, Butler, Pa., the Rev. United Lutheran Church Convention

Important Policies Will Be Considered At Convention In Savannah, Georgia

The national United Lutheran church convention will be held in Savannah, Ga., October 17 to 24 and all Lutherans of the country are vitally interested in the question to be considered at this time.

Shall women be granted the authority to be lay delegates to church conventions?

Shall the Women's Missionary Society, the Luther League and the Brotherhood be promoted to the status of agencies of the church instead of remaining mere auxiliaries?

Shall the government of the United Lutheran church become more centralized, in line with the tendency toward the greater nationalization of government all over the world?

What instructions shall the United Lutheran church give to its over a million members as to their attitude toward motion picture reform movements?

These questions appear from copies of the convention Bulletin received here to be the chief topics which engage the attention and thought of the 600 delegates who will attend.

The answers, as given there, will be of deepest concern to the 84,000 adherents of this branch of the Lutheran faith who live in this section of our nation.

The matter of women's rights to a voice in church government came before the convention at Philadelphia in 1932. Not satisfied with the divided report then presented, the subject was referred back to the committee. Again at Savannah the committee will present a majority report favoring the proposal, while a minority report will oppose the legislation on scriptural grounds.

The committee on moral and social welfare will recommend that strongly urgent instructions be given to church members to all themselves actively with all reasonable movements looking toward the moral control of the modern amusement industry of the motion picture. The traditional Lutheran church position on such matters is "hands off." The proponents of the recommendation will point out that it does not commit the church as such to a reform movement, but that it suggests a sphere for Christian action to the individual Lutheran. No decisions on this or any of the other questions will be reached without debate. The Savannah convention is sure to furnish news.

History Up-To-Date—Oct. 7, 1492—Influenced by Martin Pinzon, Christopher Columbus changed his course from west to southwest. Because he did, the first land he saw in the western hemisphere was in Haiti instead of in Florida.

Oct. 7, 1571—Europe was saved from Moslem rule in the battle of Lepanto, greatest naval engagement of the Middle Ages. The Navies of Venice, the Papal States and Spain destroyed a Turkish fleet bringing an invading army into the Gulf of Corinth. Ninety-four Turk ships were sunk, 130 were captured, 30,000 Turks were drowned and 15,000 Christian galley slaves were liberated. The Allies lost 8,000 men and Miguel Cervantes, author of the immortal Don Quixote, lost an arm.

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. October 5, 41 arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking law 9, violation of Stop signs 15, speeding 4, violation of traffic rules 4, running through red lights 1, disorderly conduct 3, drunkenness 2 and suspicion 3.

Although the report of arrests of motorists during the month of September, show 282 as alleged violators, indications are the October arrests will exceed those of September if the violations continue and someone doesn't call off the "cops". Of the 147 arrests made already this month approximately 125 have been for violation of auto laws which includes everything from parking too long in one spot to stepping on the gas at a rate in excess of the speed limit.

One interesting feature has developed from the crusade of the police against motorists here. Practically all of the persons arrested so far have been Pennsylvanians. An examination of the police books show that of those arrested between September 1 and October 5, only 40 drivers operated cars from other states. Thirty-seven operated Ohio cars, one drove a Minnesota machine and another operated a New York car.

Although council proposed that all spouts in alleys resurfaced recently had to be repaired to suit the ideas of the city engineer's department some of them have not been repaired.

DRIVING IN THE RAIN
"April showers bring May flowers"—they also bring wet pavements, clouded and misty windshields, and "traffic strichers"—pedestrians who bury their heads under umbrellas, forgetting traffic dangers. Showers bring children into the streets to play in the gutter puddles—another reason for careful driving.

Stock Market Slows Down

Market Traders Take Profits Resulting From Two Days Of Recovery

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The stock market slowed down to a snail's pace today as traders took their profits following yesterday's widespread advance giving the list a moderately irregular appearance.

The list's undertone, though appeared to be due solely to timid profit taking.

The commodity markets continued their improvement as wheat and corn advanced fractionally and cotton moved up 25 cents a bale.

Mesta Machine was prime feature, advancing more than a point on the announcement that the company had declared a 66 2-3 per cent stock dividend.

Radio Corp. preferred was another individual feature moving up a point on a comparatively large turnover. The upturn in radio, though, was not accompanied by news on the company.

Profit taking was apparent in the railroad shares where considerable irregularity developed. Favorites such as New York Central, Southern Pacific, Atchafson and Southern Railway were dull and somewhat sluggish today.

Oil continued to be characterized by dribbling liquidation which served to depress the lead issues including Socony-Vacuum and Standard Oil of N. J. fractionally.

The commodity markets continued their improvement as wheat and corn advanced fractionally and cotton moved up 25 cents a bale.

Mesta Machine was a prime feature, advancing more than a point on the announcement that the company had declared a 66 2-3 per cent stock dividend.

Radio Corp. preferred was another individual feature moving up a point on a comparatively large turnover. The upturn in radio, though, was not accompanied by news on the company.

Profit taking was apparent in the railroad shares where considerable irregularity developed. Favorites such as New York Central, Southern Pacific, Atchafalpa and Southern Railway were dull and somewhat sluggish today.

Code continued to be characterized by dribbling liquidation which served to depress the lead issues including Socony-Vacuum and Standard Oil of N. J. fractionally.

Insull-Counsel Plan To Confer

Week End Conferences Will Be Held To Form Defense Testimony For Insull

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—A week-end of long and weighty conferences was in store today for Samuel Insull and his co-defendants, on trial before Federal Judge James E. Wilkerson charged with using the United States mails to defraud investors in the now defunct Corporation Securities Company of $100,000,000.

With court adjourned until Monday, the former utilities czar planned to confer with his counsel on defense strategy against the mountain of evidence being piled up by the government in the form of documents, memoranda, buy and sell orders, letters, ledgers.

Identification of the records has occupied the government to date, with no attempt made to interpret them. Thus there is no talking of the lines the prosecution will follow in its attempt to prove Insull and his co-defendants urged the gullible public to invest when they knew the securities were worthless.

Thomas McCormick To Return Home

Mrs. David Valensi of Lincoln avenue, received cable this morning from her father, Thomas McCormick, who has been at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Bigger at Annalong, Ireland, for the past two months.

Mr. McCormick has been critically ill since being abroad, but has now recovered sufficiently to return to New Castle where he makes his home with the Valensis. His sister had made reservations for him on the Transylvania, which sails from Belfast, October 12, and when he arrives in New York City, he will be met by Mr. and Mrs. Valensi.

Mr. McCormick who is also the father of Mrs. James Jackamo and Earl J. McCormick, of this city, was a former prominent and well known business man in New Castle and has many friends who are interested in his return.

The Tigers Turn.
Did Not Sing Tra-la-la-la.
If British Labor Wins.
Planes And Submarines.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE SECOND game of the baseball series was won by the Detroit "Tigers," with "Schoolboy" Rowe pitching.

"Wild Bill" Hallahan, of the St. Louis "Cardinals," was beaten by the close score of 3-2, in a long game of twelve innings.

Had the thing been planned, it could not have been planned better.

FIRST DETROIT lost on its own grounds, then won. Wild delight. The next game will be played in St. Louis, with more and wilder delight.

"Schoolboy" Rowe, of Eldorado, Ark., who has pitched twenty-four victories this season, and now has twenty-five, is a fine lad, six feet four inches tall. The "Cardinals" great pitcher, "Dizzy" Dean comes from Oklahoma. Rugged countries produce rugged men.

ON WEDNESDAY a fine dinner and dance opened the marvelous "Rainbow Room" on the sixty-fifth floor of the highest Rockefeller Center building. Substantial citizens were there, glad that the whole cost of the dinner went to charity; but they were not really gay.

A dear little French lady, Lucienne Boyer, all in blue, on her first appearance, sang, as only a little French girl could sing it, a song beginning:

"Parlez moi d'amour;
Redites moi des choses tendres."
"Speak to me of love,
Tell me again tender things."
You will hardly believe that those sweet lines left the high financial faces cold and gloomy.

Later, the lady in blue sang another song, its refrain "Tra-la-la-la" and invited Ces Messieurs to sing and invited Ces Mesdames to hear. The "Tra-la-la-la" chorus with her. Not one of those captains of industry and finance sang "Tra-la-la-la" or even whispered it.

Imagine that French lady's amazement. In Paris every Frenchman would have sung "Tra-la-la-la" with all his might, even had the Bourse just smashed and the Eiffel Tower fallen down.

We take our sorrows seriously here, as Lucienne Boyer will tell her friends when she gets back to Paris, France. You can hear her say, shoulders shrugging:

Pensez donc, plus d'un milliard de dollars la, en personne, et personne ne voulait chanter tra-la-la-la avec moi.

THE ULTRA-PROSPEROUS among our British brothers will have some real cause for worrying if organized labor wins the next general election.

The British Labor party promises, if it comes to power, to go straight through with the Socialist program, taking over industries, transportation (railroads), banking, under government ownership and control, eliminating private ownership.

If that British program should go through, our best minds might consider themselves lucky, even under NRA and the "new era." They might even be too glad to sing "Tra-la-la-la," grateful for comparative safety.

SIR ROGER KEYES, British admiral of the fleet, bidding us farewell, emphasizing "the value of airplanes in attacks on capital ships," added:

"I firmly believe that the battleship is just as vulnerable to submarine dangers as to attack from the air."

A heavy dose of modern explosives would knock a battleship under the water, or blow it up out of the water. Therefore, Uncle Sam should have plenty of airplanes and plenty of submarines.

It is not necessary to tell you that

English May Use Coke Bought Here

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—Pennsylvania's coke fields may be able to find a new outlet for their product in England shortly, if they can meet the stringent requirements handed down in inquiries from Great Britain blast furnace operators.

If the specifications can be met, the new market thus opened would run somewhere around 15,000 tons of coke a month, a goodly amount of coke where production in the Connellsville-Lower Connellsville field—the most important in the state—is now less than 30,000 tons a month.

The English inquiry has brought new hope to coke operators in the western Pennsylvania area.

WALTER WINCHELL—New York MIRROR:
"The Green Pastures came and something happened which never happened before. The critics never toyed with so many superlatives on one play. Most agreed it is the best thing ever done in the theatre—that it has grandeur, beauty, magnificence, perfection, rhythm, melody, loveliness, distinction, greatness. Plan Housing Meeting Here On Tuesday Eve

Public Will Be Acquainted With Method To Be Followed In Campaign

FEUCHTWANGER TO HEAD MOVEMENT

In order to acquaint the public with the campaign to be inaugurated here under the Federal Housing Administration, a public meeting will be held in the city council chambers, Tuesday evening, October 9, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the local committee, of which John W. Pattison, is general chairman.

Marcus Feuchtwanger, has been named administrative chairman in charge of the effort in Lawrence County.

The various phases of the FHA will be discussed at the meeting on Tuesday, and plans will be furthered for a general campaign in the New Castle district.

The public will be advised as to the methods to be employed in borrowing the money, under the terms of the Federal Housing Administration, for home improvements.

The campaign to be inaugurated here is expected to provide employment for a great number of the building craftsmen of the city and to result in from a half million to a million dollars worth of improvements being made.

Insull-Counsel Plan To Confer

Week End Conferences Will Be Held To Form Defense Testimony For Insull

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—A week-end of long and weighty conferences was in store today for Samuel Insull and 16 co-defendants, on trial before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson charged with using the United States mails to defraud investors in the now defunct Corporation Securities Company of $100,000,000.

With court adjourned until Monday, the former utilities czar planned to confer with his counsel on defense strategy against the mountain of evidence being piled up by the government in the form of documents, memoranda, buy and sell orders, letters, ledgers.

Identification of the records has occupied the government to date, with no attempt made to interpret them. Thus there is no inkling of the lines the prosecution will follow in its attempt to prove Insull and his co-defendants urged the gullible public to invest when they knew the securities were worthless.

McKechnie Sorry For Parents Of Bobby Edwards

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 6.—"Bobby killed Freda and the verdict is justified," today declared George McKechnie when told that a jury had returned a first degree murder verdict at the trial of Bobby Edwards for the slaying of McKechnie's daughter.

Then the gray-haired, burly, Scotch mine boss added:
"But I feel sorry for Dan and Mrs. Edwards and Stewart."

Stewart is the 15-year-old brother of Bobby.

The McKechnie and Edwards families were lifelong friends and neighbors up until the latest "American tragedy."

Edwards, father of Bobby, was not in the courtroom when the verdict was returned. However, he met his son as he was being taken back to jail and shook his hands. He made no comment on the verdict.

Stage Set For Donation Days

Committee Chairmen Being Appointed By Jameson Hospital Aide Society

The stage is being set by the Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide Society for "hospital food donation days" to take place October 26 and 27. Those in charge of the soliciting of gifts of fruit and vegetables for the Jameson Memorial hospital are busy right now in appointing committee chairmen in each church of city and county.

With the completion of these appointments the campaign will be on, its success seemingly assured because of the splendid crop of fruits and vegetables this year.

Van Zandt Is Again Elected

Altoona Man National Head Of Veterans Of Foreign Wars

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 6.—Veterans of Foreign Wars broke up their encampment here today and headed for home after re-electing James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., national commander, picking New Orleans for their 1935 convention city and demanding cash payment of the soldier "bonus" convention.

The Veterans rescinded their approval of the radio silencing of Brig.-Gen. Smedley D. Butler as he addressed them Wednesday and adopted instead a resolution condemning the shutting off the air of the former marine commandant.

Immediate cash payment of adjusted compensation certificates was endorsed as part of a seven-point program of the V. F. W. Other planks call for uniform pension laws, deportation of radicals, federalization of munitions and wealth in wartime, immigration restrictions and a taking of the oath of allegiance by public officials.

Youngest Of Dean Boys Sets
Tigers Down And Then
Tells "Dizzy"

Tigers Dizzy And Daffey
Watching Them

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports
Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Paul ("Daffy") Dean, youngest of the delirious Deans, has gone on strike. Not, it hasten to assure you, against the Cardinals, but against brother Dizzy.

All his life Daffy has been a perfect foil for Dizzy. He's sat in the shadow while Daffey grabbed the spotlight. He's been the ideal stooge, the incomparable "yes" man for Dizzy.

But no more. There's a new Daffy now. A Daffy who demands his place in the baseball sun. The new Daffy came to light just after he had not only matched but bettered Dizzy's performance against the Tigers.

The Metamorphosis took place in the clubhouse. As Daffy entered, Dizzy was saying, "Daffy! I tell you, this series would be—me and Paul, that's all."

"Me and Dizzy?"

And right there was where Daffy threw off his master's yoke and spoke his little piece, to the amusement of the Cards and the amazement of brother Dizzy.

"Where do you get that 'me and Paul' stuff?" demanded Daffy. "How about me saying 'me and Daffy' for a change? I guess I ain't so poor my own self."

"Well, I'll be darned," said Daffy. "But that's the way to talk, kid. Now we'll both get plenty publicity. He turned to the gang and added: 'Say, we're smart, us Deans, ain't we?'"

Delaney, the 19-year-old catcher, who handles both the Deans, was off to one side explaining quickly how Daffy did it: "He had more speed than Dizzy out there today. We used nothing but fast balls to get rid of every hitter."

Deans Never Nervous

"Nervous in a jam? That bird? Say, those Deans are too nutty to have any nerves. Now in this next game I figure Tex Carleton will be just as tough for them because he's a side wheeler and his delivery will be a lot different to look at after seeing Daffy."

Over in the Tiger clubhouse a sad Mickey Cochrane was having two deep gaps in his leg dressed by the trainer. He was put there by Medwick sliding home in the second game. Mickey seemed on the verge of tears.

"Our hitting is lousy," admitted Mickey. "I'm going to start Auker in the next one and if he wins, I'll shoot again with Crowder and follow with Rowe. If Auker loses, of course, I'll have to come back right away with Rowe. We're not licked yet." But Mickey didn't sound too confident about it.

GREENBERG DRIVES
IN TIGER'S TALLY

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Paul Dean repeated the triumph that his brother Dizzy started in the opener, winning the third game on opening in St. Louis over the Detroit Tigers Friday afternoon before 40,000 rioting fans. The final score was 4 to 1, the Tigers finally breaking through to their only score in the ninth when White singled and went all around on Greenberg's robust poke to center field for three bases.

This was a regular Ruthian hit, the ball landing at the foot of the bleacher wall in deepest center. Otherwise he seldom pitched a hitless inning but was forever snuffing out Detroit's chances with men on base.

Meantime, the Cards were making merry at the expense of Tom Bridges, long hits bounding off the fences to give the local club an early lead which P. Dean was all too able to protect.

As a result of the victory, St. Louis again took the lead in the series, this time at two victories to one, the situation now standing one victory for Daffy Dean, one victory for Paul Dean and one for the entire Detroit club.

OUT FOR THREE — By Jack Sords

THE SPORT
PATROL

By JOHN J. MARRER, JR.
A DRAMATIC SEASON
THROUGHOUT

Perhaps no other year in baseball has been so replete with thrills from opening day down through the world series as this one has. A more sensational story couldn't have been put into fiction than the one the current season has written into the baseball record books.

Detroit's unexpected triumph in the American league had scarcely worn off when the Cardinals, with a miraculous spurt, came in a step ahead of the faltering Giants.

Along with Detroit and St. Louis, three of the most colorful players in baseball history rode into the world series.

The Dean brothers have been the talk of the National League for many reasons including the ability to win ball games, their own vocal expressions of their success against the Giants, and Paul's no-hitter.

Rowe has been the sensation of the American league with his 16 consecutive wins offered as his chief claim to fame. There, apparently, has been nothing the Schoolboy does or thinks, that has been left unwritten.

The all-star game last July had the fans on the edge of their seats for the entire nine innings. Carl Hubbell's three innings of great pitching was the highlight of this game which also contributed some real American league slugging.

And now the world series promises to be every bit as colorful as the season has. This series is the first one between two western clubs since 1919. It has been fifteen years since the inlanders have had an exclusive series to get excited about.

The Cards and Tigers are both fighting ball clubs that have plenty of color. The sensational finish of the Cards and the dogged determination by which the Tigers maintained their lead has demonstrated the spirited qualities of both clubs.

Pepper Martin, the 1931 series hero; Rip Collins, home run king, and Frank Frisch, peer of the second sackers in the senior circuit, who holds many series records, all add color to the fall classic.

To offset these stars the Tigers offer Hank Greenberg, a real slugger; Charley Gehring, a match for Frisch at second; Mickey Cochrane, a great manager and catcher, and Goose Goslin, a great money player.

With all the drama that has been built up during the season, it is no wonder the series has attracted such nation-wide interest.

HOUSTON-BEAUMONT BACKGROUND

While Detroit and St. Louis are boasting of their championship teams, there are two cities down south which are showing more than passing interest in the series. Houston and Beaumont can well declare that they had a hand in the outcome of the pennant race in both the American and National leagues.

Houston is, perhaps, cheering for the Cardinals. That city was formerly the home club for the Deans, Pepper Martin, Joe Medwick, Ernie Orsatti, Bill Hallahan and Tex Carlisle. All of these players, at some time or other, have been Houston idols.

Over in Beaumont in the same state the citizens are anxiously watching the work of many of the Tigers. Big Hank Greenberg, Joyner Fox, Schoolboy Rowe, Elden Auker, Luke Hamlin, Flea Clifton and Rudy York are all youngsters who have only recently been graduated from the Texas league.

So, perhaps, when giving a cheer to the pennant winners, it would be well to remember the Beaumont and Houston prepping grounds of many of the Tigers and Cardinals. These southern cities contributed much to the parent organizations which have resulted in the flag for Detroit and St. Louis.

ALBERT STARS FOR FRANKLIN

Thirty-six straight football games without a defeat came to an end for Ben Franklin junior high school football team yesterday afternoon at Taggart field at the hands of a big, powerful, hard fighting Bessemer junior high eleven. The score was 12 to 0. The Franklins, outwitted but not out fought, never threatened the Bessemer goal line.

Coach Emmett Gillaspie saw his team go down to defeat for the first time in three years. It was all Bessemer from beginning to end. The one outstanding player on the Franklin team was Captain Albert, who made tackle after tackle all over the field and seemed to be in every play.

Guyllito-Sharp Score.

Bessemer scored in the second period on an off tackle spinner play with Guyllito carrying the ball from the 15-yard line. Franklin earlier in the game had staved off two Bessemer scores by recovering fumbles, with Albert pouncing on the ball both times. The plunge for extra point failed.

The Bessemers scored again in the third quarter, with Sharp, a sub backfield man, getting away for a 25-yard run that produced a score. Again the extra point failed.

Franklin's offensive attack against their older and heavier opponents was noticeably weak. Captain Albert played a whole of a game on the line, smearing play after play with deadly tackling.

This is the first time in seven years that any class B high school team in the county has ever won from Franklin either in football or basketball.

Paul "Daffy" Dean In Select Ranks

Youngest Of Dean Boys Sets
Tigers Down And Then
Tells "Dizzy"
About It

It's "Me and Dizzy" Now,
Tigers Dizzy And Daffy
Watching Them
Go By

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports
Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Paul ("Daffy") Dean, younger of the delirious Deans, has gone on strike. Not, I hasten to assure you, against the Cardinals, but against brother Dizzy. All his life Daffy has been a perfect foil for Dizzy. He's sat in the shadow while Dizzy grabbed the spotlight. He's been the ideal stooge, the incomparable "yes" man for Dizzy.

But no more. There's a new Daffy now. A Daffy who demands his place in the baseball sun. The new Daffy came to light just after he had not only matched but bettered Dizzy's performance against the Tigers.

The metamorphosis took place in the clubhouse. As Daffy entered, Dizzy was saying: "Didn't I tell you how this series would be—me and Paul, that's all."

"Me and Dizzy"

And right there was where Daffy threw off his master's yoke and spoke his little piece, to the amusement of the Cards and the amazement of brother Dizzy.

"Where do you get that 'me and Paul' stuff?" demanded Daffy. "How about me saying 'me and Dizzy' for a change? I guess I ain't so poor my own self."

"Well, I'll be darned," said Daffy. "But that's the way to talk, kid. Now we'll both get plenty publicity." He turned to the gang and added: "Say, we're smart, us Deans, ain't we?"

Delancey, the 19-year-old catcher, who handles both the Deans, was off to one side explaining quietly how Daffy did it: "He had more speed than Dizzy out there today. We used nothing but fast balls to get rid of every hitter."

Deans Never Nervous

"Nervous in a jam? That bird? Say, those Deans are too nutty to have any nerves. Now in this next game I figure Tex Carleton will be just as tough for them because he's a side wheeler and his delivery will be a lot different to look at after seeing Daffy."

Over in the Tiger clubhouse a sad Mickey Cochrane was having two deep gapes in his leg dressed by the trainer. They were put there by Medwick sliding home in the second game. Mickey seemed on the verge of tears.

"Our hitting is lousy," admitted Mickey. "I'm going to start Auker in the next one and if he wins, I'll shoot again with Crowder and follow with Rowe. If Auker loses, of course, I'll have to come back right away with Rowe. We're not licked yet." But Mickey didn't sound too confident about it.

Steve Hamas Defeats Lasky

Rip-Roaring Heavyweight
Battle In New York City
Is Taken By Hamas

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Steve Hamas and Art Lasky put their hearts on the line at Madison Square Garden last night and growled: "Come and get me."

It was a desperate, savage encounter which they put up. For sheer courage and gameness, the struggle has seldom been equalled by big men. Joe Agnello and Harold Barnes, disgraced, leaving the awarding up to Billy Cavanaugh, West Point's boxing tutor. He called it for Hamas.

Hamas was superb in his gameness. He floundered when he tired in spots, and then Lasky charged with cruel, little short arm hooks and jabs which raked Hamas unmercifully. This didn't break Hamas' spirit.

It was a tough break for Lasky, though he was at fault in that he allowed Hamas to get the jump on him in the early rounds. Art timed his finish a bit too late.

Cardinals Favored By Betting Odds

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—The St. Louis Cardinals are favored at odds of one to three to win the World Series, by Tom Kearney, local betting commissioner, as a result of Paul Dean's victory yesterday. The odds against the Detroit Tigers winning the series are two to one, according to Kearney. The Cardinals are three to five to win today's game and the Tigers a six to five bet.

Warren Defeats Salem High 38-6

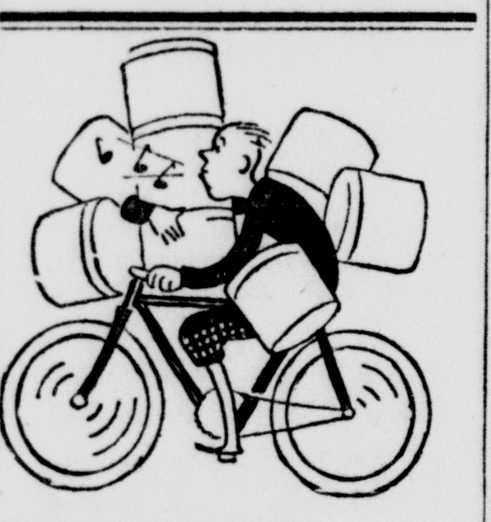

Warren, Ohio, High school football team made it three straight victories last night at the well-lighted Warren High field by taking the measure of a Salem, Ohio, High team 38 to 6, with apparent ease. Warren scored one or more touchdowns in every period of the game and were never in danger.

New Castle and Warren will meet at the Warren field on Friday night, October 26. Brodgen scored three touchdowns and Chickeneo scored twice.

GREENBERG DRIVES
IN TIGER'S TALLY

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Editor
SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—Paul Dean repeated the triumph that his brother Dizzy started in the opener, winning the third game on opening in St. Louis over the Detroit Tigers Friday afternoon before 40,000 rioting fans. The final score was 4 to 1. The Tigers finally breaking through to their only score in the ninth when White singled and went all around on Greenberg's robust poke to center field for three bases.

This was a regular Ruthian hit, the ball landing at the foot of the bleacher well in deepest center.

Otherwise he seldom pitched a hitless inning but was forever snuffing out the Tigers' chances with men on base.

Bridges Chased

Meantime, the Cards were making merry at the expense of Tom Bridges, long hits bounding off the fences to give the local club an early lead which P. Dean was all too able to protect.

As a result of the victory, St. Louis again took the lead in the series, this time at two victories to one, the situation now standing one victory for Daffy Dean, one victory for Paul Dean and one for the entire Detroit club.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Police of Detroit investigated yesterday the charge made by Jim Collins, Cardinals' first baseman, that someone flashed a mirror in his eyes during the second game of the series at Detroit. Police traced the mirror to a fan who occupied a seat on the top of a building on Trumbull avenue, across from Navin field. Collins said he believes that was the reason Delancey missed Walker's pop foul in the ninth and that was one of the reasons St. Louis lost, according to Collins. Manager Cochrane of Detroit said he noticed the flashing as early as the eighth inning and declared it also was flashed in his eyes a couple of times.

Virginia Van Wie of Chicago won from Mrs. Glenna Collett Vane of Philadelphia, 3 and 2, in the feature semi-final match of the 38th national women's golf championship at Philadelphia yesterday. THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.
A DRAMATIC SEASON
THROUGHOUT

Perhaps no other year in baseball has been so replete with thrills from opening day down through the world series as this one has. A more sensational story couldn't have been put into fiction than the one the current season has written into the baseball record books.

Detroit's unexpected triumph in the American league had scarcely worn off when the Cardinals, with a miraculous spurt, came in a step ahead of the faltering Giants.

Along with Detroit and St. Louis, three of the most colorful players in baseball history rode into the world series.

The Dean brothers have been the talk of the National league for many reasons including the ability to win ball games, their own vocal expressions, their success against the Giants, and Paul's no-hitter.

Rowe has been the sensation of the American league with his 16 consecutive wins offered as his chief claim to fame. There, apparently, has been nothing the Schoolboy does or thinks, that has been left unwritten.

The all-star game last July had the fans on the edge of their seats for the entire nine innings. Carl Hubbell's three innings of great pitching was the highlight of this game which also contributed some real American league slugging.

And now the world series promises to be every bit as colorful as the season has. This series is the first one between two western clubs since 1919. It has been fifteen years since the inlanders have had an exclusive series to get excited about.

The Cards and Tigers are both fighting ball clubs that have plenty of color. The sensational finish of the Cards and the dogged determination by which the Tigers maintained their lead has demonstrated the spirited qualities of both clubs. Pepper Martin, the 1931 series hero; Rip Collins, home run king, and Frank Frisch, peer of the second holders in the senior circuit who sacks many series records, all add color to the fall classic.

To offset these stars the Tigers offer Hank Greenberg, a real slugger; Charley Gehring, a match for Frisch at second; Mickey Cochrane, a great manager and catcher, and Goose Goslin, a great money player.

With all the drama that has been built up during the season, it is no wonder the series has attracted such nation-wide interest.

HOUSTON-BEAUMONT BACKGROUND

While Detroit and St. Louis are boasting of their championship teams, there are two cities down south which are showing more than passing interest in the series. Houston and Beaumont can well declare that they had a hand in the outcome of the pennant race in both the American and National leagues.

Houston is, perhaps, cheering for the Cardinals. That city was formerly the home club for the Deans, Pepper Martin, Joe Medwick, Ernie Orsatti, Bill Hallahan and Tex Carleton. All of these players, at some time or other, have been Houston idols.

Over in Beaumont in the same state the citizens are anxiously watching the work of many of the Tigers. Big Hank Greenberg, Joyner Fox, Schoolboy Rowe, Elden Auker, Luke Hamlin, Flea Clifton and Rudy York are all youngsters who have only recently been graduated from the Texas league.

So, perhaps, when giving a cheer to the pennant winners, it would be well to remember the Beaumont and Houston prepping grounds of many of the Tigers and Cardinals. These southern cities contributed much to their parent organizations which have resulted in the flag for Detroit and St. Louis.

The Tigers Turn.
Did Not Sing Tra-la-la-la.
If British Labor Wins.
Planes And Submarines.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE SECOND game of the baseball series was won by the Detroit "Tigers," with "Schoolboy" Rowe pitching.

"Wild Bill" Hallahan, of the St. Louis "Cardinals," was beaten by the close score of 3-2, in a long game of twelve innings.

Had the thing been planned, it could not have been planned better.

FIRST DETROIT lost on its own grounds, then won. Wild delight. The next game will be played in St. Louis, with more and wilder delight.

"Schoolboy" Rowe, of Eldorado, Ark., who has pitched twenty-four victories this season, and now has twenty-five, is a fine lad, six feet four inches tall. The "Cardinals" great pitcher, "Dizzy" Dean comes from Oklahoma. Rugged countries produce rugged men.

ON WEDNESDAY a fine dinner and dance opened the marvelous "Rainbow Room" on the sixty-fifth floor of the highest Rockefeller Center building. Substantial citizens were there, glad that the whole cost of the dinner went to charity; but they were not really gay.

A dear little French lady, Lucienne Boyer, all in blue, on her first appearance, sang as only a little French girl could sing it, a song beginning:

"Parlez moi d'amour;
Redites moi des choses tendres."
"Speak to me of love,
Tell me again tender things."

You will hardly believe that those sweet lines left the high financial faces cold and gloomy. Later, the lady in blue sang another song, its refrain "Tra-la-la-la" and invited Ces Messieurs to sing the "Tra-la-la-la" chorus with her. Not one of those captains of industry and finance sang "Tra-la-la-la" or even whispered it.

Imagine that French lady's amazement. In Paris every Frenchman would have sung "Tra-la-la-la" with all his might, even had the Bourse just smashed and the Eiffel Tower fallen down.

We take our sorrows seriously here, as Lucienne Boyer will tell her friends when she gets back to Paris, France. You can hear her say, shoulders shrugging:

Pensez donc, plus d'un milliard de dollars la, en personne, et personne ne voulait chanter tra-la-la-la avec moi.

THE ULTRA-PROSPEROUS among our British brothers will have some real cause for worrying if organized labor wins the next general election.

The British Labor party promises, if it comes to power, to go straight through with the Socialist program, taking over industries, transportation (railroads), banking, under government ownership and control, eliminating private ownership.

If that British program should go through, our best minds might consider themselves lucky, even under NRA and the "new era." They might even be too glad to sing "Tra-la-la-la," grateful for comparative safety.

SIR ROGER KEYES, British admiral of the fleet, bidding us farewell, emphasizing "the value of airplanes in attacks on capital ships," added:

"I firmly believe that the battleship is just as vulnerable to submarine dangers as to attack from the air."

A heavy dose of modern explosives would knock a battleship under the water, or blow it up out of the water. Therefore, Uncle Sam should have plenty of airplanes and plenty of submarines.

It is not necessary to tell you that (Continued On Page Eleven)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Paul ("Daffy") Dean, younger of the delirious Deans, has gone on strike. Not, I hasten to assure you, against the Cardinals, but against brother Dizzy. All his life Daffy has been a perfect foil for Dizzy. He's sat in the shadow while Dizzy grabbed the spotlight. He's been silent while Dizzy bragged. He's been the ideal stooge, the incomparable "yes" man for Dizzy.

But no more. There's a new Daffy now. A Daffy who demands his place in the baseball sun. The new Daffy came to light just after he had not only matched but bettered Dizzy's performance against the Tigers.

The metamorphosis took place in the clubhouse. As Daffy entered, Dizzy was saying, "Didn't I tell you how this series would be—me and Paul, that's all."

"Me and Dizzy?" And right there was where Daffy threw off his master's yoke and spoke his little piece, to the amusement of the Cards and the amazement of brother Dizzy.

"Where do you get that 'me and Paul' stuff?" demanded Daffy. "How about me saying 'me and Daffy' for a change? I guess I ain't so poor my own self."

"Well, I'll be darned," said Daffy. "But that's the way to talk, kid. Now we'll both get plenty publicity." He turned to the gang and added: "Say, we're smart, us Deans, ain't we?"

Delancey, the 19-year-old catcher who handles both the Deans, was off to one side explaining quietly how Daffy did it: "He had more speed than Dizzy out there today. We used nothing but fast balls to get rid of every hitter."

Deans Never Nervous
"Nervous in a jam? That bird? Say, those Deans are too nutty to have any nerves. Now in this next game I figure Tex Carleton will be just as tough for them because he's a side wheeler and his delivery will be a lot different to look at after seeing Daffy."

Over in the Tiger clubhouse a sud Mickey Cochrane was having two deep fives in his leg dressed by the trainer. They were put there by Mickey sliding home in the second game. Mickey seemed on the verge of tears.

"Our hitting is lousy," admitted Mickey. "I'm going to start Auker in the next one and if he wins, I'll shoot again with Crowder and follow with Rowe. If Auker loses, of course, I'll have to come back right away with Rowe. We're not licked yet." But Mickey didn't sound too confident about it.

GREENBERG DRIVES IN TIGER'S TALLY

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Editor
SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Paul Dean repeated the triumph that his brother Dizzy started in the opener, winning the third game on opening in St. Louis over the Detroit Tigers Friday afternoon before 40,000 rioting fans. The final score was 4 to 1, the Tigers finally breaking through to their only score in the ninth when White singled and went all around on Greenberg's robust poke to center field for three bases.

This was a regular Ruthian hit, the ball landing at the foot of the bleacher well in deepest center. Otherwise he seldom pitched a hitless inning but was forever snuffing out Detroit's chances with men on base.

Meantime, the Cards were making merry at the expense of the Tigers, long hits bounding off the fences to give the local club an early lead which P. Dean was all too able to protect.

As a result of the victory, St. Louis again took the lead in the series, this time at two victories to one, the situation now standing one victory for Daffy Dean, one victory for Greenberg and one for the entire Detroit club.

Box score, third game of World Series:—

The Cards and Tigers are both fighting hot clubs that have plenty of color. The sensational finish of the Cards and the dogged determination by which the Tigers maintained their lead has demonstrated the spirited qualities of both clubs.

Pepper Martin, the 1931 series hero; Rip Collins, home run king, and Frank Frisch, peer of the second sackers in the senior circuit who holds many series records, all add color to the fall classic.

To offset these stars the Tigers offer Hank Greenberg, a real slugger; Charley Gehring, a match for Frisch at second; Mickey Cochrane, a great manager and catcher, and George Goslin, a great money player.

With all the drama that has been built up during the season, it is no wonder the series has attracted such nation-wide interest.

HOUSTON-BEAUMONT
While Detroit and St. Louis are boasting of their championship teams, there are two cities down south which are showing more than passing interest in the series. Houston and Beaumont can well declare that they had a hand in the outcome of the pennant race in both the American and National leagues.

Houston is, perhaps, cheering for the Cardinals. That city was formerly the home club for the Deans, Pepper Martin, Joe Medwick, Ernie Orsatti, Bill Hallahan and Tex Carleton. All of these players, at some time or other, have been Houston idols.

Over in Beaumont in the same state the citizens are anxiously watching the work of many of the Tigers. Big Hank Greenberg, Joyner Fox, Schoolboy Rowe, Elden Auker, Luke Hamlin, Flee Clifton and Rudy York are all youngsters who have only recently been graduated from the Texas league.

A DRAMATIC SEASON THROUGHOUT

Perhaps no other year in baseball has been so replete with thrills from opening day down through the world series as this one has. A more sensational story couldn't have been put into fiction than the one the current season has written into the baseball record books.

Detroit's unexpected triumph in the American league had scarcely worn off when the Cardinals, with a miraculous spurt, came in a step ahead of the faltering Giants.

Along with Detroit and St. Louis, three of the most colorful players in baseball history rode into the world series.

The Dean brothers have been the talk of the National league for many reasons including the ability to win ball games, their own vocal expressions, their success against the Giants, and Paul's no-hitter.

Rowe has been the sensation of the American league with his 16 consecutive wins offered as his chief claim to fame. There, apparently, has been nothing the Schoolboy does that has been left unwritten.

The all-star game last July had the fans on the edge of their seats for the entire nine innings. Carl Hubbell's three innings of great pitching was the highlight of this game which also contributed some real American league slugging.

And now the world series promises to be every bit as colorful as the season has. This series is the first one between two western clubs since 1919. It has been fifteen years since the inlanders have had an exclusive series to get excited about.

The Cards and Tigers are both fighting hot clubs that have plenty of color. The sensational finish of the Cards and the dogged determination by which the Tigers maintained their lead has demonstrated the spirited qualities of both clubs.

Pepper Martin, the 1931 series hero; Rip Collins, home run king, and Frank Frisch, peer of the second sackers in the senior circuit who holds many series records, all add color to the fall classic.

To offset these stars the Tigers offer Hank Greenberg, a real slugger; Charley Gehring, a match for Frisch at second; Mickey Cochrane, a great manager and catcher, and George Goslin, a great money player.

With all the drama that has been built up during the season, it is no wonder the series has attracted such nation-wide interest.

Bessemer Tops Franklin High By Score 12-0

Franklin Jr. High Winning Streak Of 36 Straight Games Ends Friday Afternoon

ALBERT STARS FOR FRANKLIN

Thirty-six straight football games without a defeat came to an end for Ben Franklin junior high school football team yesterday afternoon at Taggart field at the hands of a big, powerful, hard fighting Bessemer junior high eleven. The score was 12 to 0. The Franklinites, outweighed but not outwitted, never threatened the Bessemer goal line.

Coach Emmett Gillaspie saw his team go down to defeat for the first time in three years. It was all Bessemer from beginning to end. The one outstanding player on the Franklin team was captain Albert, who made tackle after tackle all over the field and seemed to be in every play.

Guyllito-Sharp Score.
Bessemer scored in the second period on an off tackle spitter play with Guyllito carrying the ball from the 15-yard line. Franklin earlier in the game had staged off two Bessemer scores by recovering fumbles.

The Bessemer scored again in the third quarter, with Sharp, a sub backfield man, getting away for a 25-yard run that produced a score. Again the extra point failed.

Franklin's offensive attack against their older and heavier opponents was noticeably weak. Captain Albert played a whale of a game on the line, smearing play after play with deadly tackling.

This is the first time in seven years that any class B high school team in the county has ever won from Franklin either in football or basketball.

Junior Football League To Open
Catholics Will Play Miltons Sunday At B. & O. Field

New Castle's Junior football league will open Sunday with the Catholics playing the Miltons at the B. & O. Field. The Catholics, coached by Fred Fabian, former New Castle High star. The Catholics have won the junior title here for the past three years.

Humbert Gianni and Louie Sorto last year with the New Castle High team will be in the Catholic lineup. Pete Zingaro former Franklin High star will cause the Miltons a lot of trouble with his deadly passing and punting. The game will be refereed by Nick DeCarbo, former Duquesne University star. The only two officials will be "Rip" Richards, former New Castle High backfield star and Fred Marcella. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Experts say that there are an average of 12 earthquakes a day. And the odd part of it is that they never have any in California.

Textile Workers Ready To Return To Work Monday

Month Old Textile Strike At Bridgeport, Pa., Is Settled Satisfactorily

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Oct. 6.—With the month old textile strike here settled by the Philadelphia regional labor board, between 1000 and 1100 workers will return to their looms at the James Lees Sons Company plant on Monday.

The remainder of the workers, numbering about 650, will be re-employed as soon as conditions warrant under terms of the settlement agreement which brought an end to the daily basement of a church here. The workers last night voted with but one dissenting vote to abide by the terms of the pact negotiated by their leaders at the labor board conference.

Bystander Killed
As a result of the strike settlement, borough officials said today that no attempt would be made to enforce the virtual martial law ordered in the mill area by Sheriff Hasseltine S. Lever Wednesday following an outbreak of rioting in which a bystander, Ellwood Quirk, 23 was shot and fatally wounded.

Five deputy sheriffs are at liberty in $5,500 bail each charged with homicide in connection with Quirk's death.

Union leaders at last night's meeting urged that Governor Gifford Pinchot appoint a special prosecution to prosecute the trial of the deputies and also revealed that the council retained by the American civil liberties union will come here within a few days to participate in the prosecution.

On Court House Hill

The county commissioners have received plans of the proposed extension of improvements on the West Pittsburgh road, from the end of the present concrete to a point near the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station at West Pittsburgh. The work will be done by the state, but the county commissioners will be expected to secure releases from property owners.

The Peoples Bank of New Castle, assignee of the Peoples Savings and Trust Company, has filed preliminary papers to collect from Jacob and Anna Ginsburg a mortgage on property located in the first ward of this city.

County commissioners have heard nothing lately on the project of a workhouse for Lawrence, Butler, Mercer and Venango counties. Several meetings to consider the matter were called last spring, but there did not appear to be much encouragement for the project and it is presumed that it has been dropped, for the present, at least.

In the case of S. Emma Baer against Joseph Heaney, administrator of the late E. J. O'Brien, a petition has been presented asking the court to fix a fair value of property in the fourth ward recently sold by the sheriff. Plaintiff held a mortgage on the property. Judgment was entered for $1,122.25. Plaintiff bid it in at the sale for $50, costs were $38.62. The petition is presented under an act of the legislature of May 17, 1934, providing the fixing of values where a property is not sold for sufficient to pay the debt. The court directed that 10 days notice, as required by the act, be given the defendant.

Superintendent Perry Snyder of the county home, with the assistance of inmates who are able to work, is now digging potatoes raised on the farm this summer. Yesterday, with 20 inmates, 120 bushels of potatoes were dug by 11 o'clock. Work was then suspended for the day as some of the inmates are not able to stand a full day's work. Superintendent Snyder has found the inmates at the home willing to cooperate with him in any work which they are able to do. There are still a lot of potatoes to dig and other farm and garden produce to be harvested. Thousands of dollars might be saved if the home had a large tract of land, say from 100 to 200 acres. At the time the present site was purchased it was figured that only the old and infirm would become inmates, and that there would be few among them who would be able to do any work. Times have changed, however, and there are plenty of able bodied men available.

Applications for hunting licenses are now coming in more rapidly. So far over one thousand have been issued by the county treasurer. It may interest hunters to know that in addition to bag limits being fixed for certain kinds of game there are other animals on which the commonwealth pays a bounty. For each gray fox killed $4 is paid, for each weasel $1, and for each goshawk, $5.

As a result of the strike settlement, borough officials said today that no attempt would be made to enforce the virtual martial law ordered in the mill area by Sheriff Haseltine S. Lever Wednesday following an outbreak of rioting in which a bystander, Ellwood Quirk, 23 was shot and fatally wounded.

Five deputy sheriffs are at liberty in $5,500 bail each charged with homicide in connection with Quirk's death.

Union leaders at last night's meeting urged that Governor Gifford Pinchot appoint a special prosecution to prosecute the trial of the deputies and also revealed that the council retained by the American civil liberties union will come here within a few days to participate in the prosecution.

Applications for hunting licenses are now coming in more rapidly. So far over one thousand have been issued by the county treasurer. It may interest hunters to know that in addition to bag limits being fixed for certain kinds of game, there are other animals on which the commonwealth pays a bounty. For each gray fox killed $4 is paid, for each weasel $1, and for each goshawk, $5.

Superintendent Perry Snyder of the county home, with the assistance of inmates who are able to work, is now digging potatoes raised on the farm this summer. Yesterday, with 20 inmates, 120 bushels of potatoes were dug by 11 o'clock. Work was then suspended for the day as some of the inmates are not able to stand a full day's work. Superintendent Snyder has found the inmates at the home willing to cooperate with him in any work which they are able to do. There are still a lot of potatoes to dig and other farm and garden produce to be harvested. Thousands of dollars might be saved if the home had a large tract of land, say from 100 to 200 acres. At the time the present site was purchased it was figured that only the old and infirm would become inmates, and that there would be few among them who would be able to do any work. Times have changed, however, and there are plenty of able bodied men available.

On Court House Hill

The county commissioners have received plans of the proposed extension of improvements on the West Pittsburgh road, from the end of the present concrete to a point near the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station at West Pittsburgh. The work will be done by the state, but the county commissioners will be expected to secure releases from property owners.

The Peoples Bank of New Castle, assignee of the Peoples Savings and Trust Company, has filed preliminary papers to collect from Jacob and Anna Ginsburg a mortgage on property located in the first ward of this city.

County commissioners have heard nothing lately on the project of a workhouse for Lawrence, Butler, Mercer and Venango counties. Several meetings to consider the matter were called last spring, but there did not appear to be much encouragement for the project and it is presumed that it has been dropped, for the present, at least.

In the case of S. Emma Baer against Joseph Heaney, administrator of the late E. J. O'Brien, a petition has been presented asking the court to fix a fair value of property in the fourth ward recently sold by the sheriff. Plaintiff held a mortgage on the property. Judgment was entered for $1,122.25. Plaintiff bid it in at the sale for $50. Costs were $88.62. The petition is presented under an act of the legislature of May 17, 1934, providing the fixing of values where a property is not sold for sufficient to pay the debt. The court directed that 10 days notice, as required by the act, be given the defendant.

Textile Workers Ready To Return To Work Monday

Month Old Textile Strike At Bridgeport, Pa., Is Settled Satisfactorily

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Oct. 6.—With the month old textile strike here settled by the Philadelphia regional labor board, between 1000 and 1100 workers will return to their looms at the James Lees Sons Company plant on Monday.

The remainder of the workers, numbering about 650, will be re-employed as soon as conditions warrant under terms of the settlement agreement which brought an end to the daily basement of a church here. The workers last night voted with but one dissenting vote to abide by the terms of the pact negotiated by their leaders at the labor board conference.

Bystander Killed

As a result of the strike settlement, borough officials said today that no attempt would be made to enforce the virtual martial law ordered in the mill area by Sheriff Haselbine S. Lever Wednesday following an outbreak of rioting in which a bystander, Ellwood Quirk, 23, was shot and fatally wounded.

Five deputy sheriffs are at liberty in $5,500 bail each charged with homicide in connection with Quirk's death.

Union leaders at last night's meeting urged that Governor Gifford Fitch appoint a special prosecutor to prosecute the trial of the deputies and also revealed that the council retained by the American civil liberties union will come here within a few days to participate in the prosecution.

The county commissioners have received plans of the proposed extension of improvements on the West Pittsburgh road, from the end of the present concrete to a point near the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station at West Pittsburgh. The work will be done by the state, but the county commissioners will be expected to secure releases from property owners.

The Peoples Bank of New Castle, assignee of the Peoples Savings and Trust Company, has filed preliminary papers to collect from Jacob and Anna Ginsburg a mortgage on property located in the first ward of this city.

County commissioners have heard nothing lately on the project of a workhouse for Lawrence, Butler, Mercer and Venango counties. Several meetings to consider the matter were called last spring, but there did not appear to be much encouragement for the project and it is presumed that it has been dropped, for the present, at least.

In the case of S. Emma Baer against Joseph Heaney, administrator of the late E. J. O'Brien, a petition has been presented asking the court to fix a fair value of property in the fourth ward recently sold by the sheriff. Plaintiff held a mortgage on the property. Judgment was entered for $1,122.25. Plaintiff bid it in at the sale for $50, costs were $88.92. The petition is presented under an act of the legislature of May 17, 1934, providing the fixing of values where a property is not sold for sufficient to pay the debt. The court directed that 10 days notice, as required by the act, be given the defendant.

Superintendent Perry Snyder of the county home, with the assistance of inmates who are able to work, is now digging potatoes raised on the farm this summer. Yesterday, with 20 inmates, 120 bushels of potatoes were dug by 11 o'clock. Work was then suspended for the day as some of the inmates are not able to stand a full day's work. Superintendent Snyder has found the inmates at the home willing to cooperate with him in any work which they are able to do. There are still a lot of potatoes to dig and other farm and garden produce to be harvested. Thousands of dollars might be saved if the home had a large tract of land, say from 100 to 200 acres. At the time the present site was purchased it was figured that only the old and infirm would become inmates, and that there would be few among them who would be able to do any work. Times have changed, however, and there are plenty of able bodied men available.

Applications for hunting licenses are now coming in more rapidly. So far over one thousand have been issued by the county treasurer. It may interest hunters to know that in addition to bag limits being fixed for certain kinds of game, there are other animals on which the commonwealth pays a bounty. For each gray fox killed $4 is paid, for each weasel $1, and for each goshawk, $5.
